Hitchcock Says Let U. S. Seize Territory

SUGGEST BRYAN AS MEDIATOR

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The annexation of States in Northern Mexico by the United States, and a division of the remainder of the country into separate governments, was suggested today by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, as a possible way of bringing about peace in that country.

"The cession of a portion of Northern Mexico to the United States in payment for the enormous indemnity which must be asked of that country for damages to American life and property, seems to me to be a feasible way of settling these claims," said Hitchcock.

"It will of course be impossible for that government to meet the demands of the United States in cash. These States annexed to this country would also serve as 'buffer' territories between the old border of the United States and the Mexican nation further to the south.

"Inasmuch as Mexico is now torn between two conflicting parties, it is within the bounds of possibility that peace might be restored through the establish-

South End Girl Bride in Jail Wedding.

Carmela Torre went to Charles street jail this afternoon to become the bride of Carmelo Mareano, not only because she loves him, but also so she will be eliminated as a witness against Mareano on a charge of trying to kidnap her. Judge Creed, of Boston Municipal Court, arranged this way out of the dilemma.

Carmelo and Carmela's families live at No. 825 Albany street, South End. Two weeks ago he tried to kidnap her.

Drinks Cocktail of Nitric Acid

Thirsty Haverhill Man Near Death as Result.

Xavier Thibault of Haverhill drank a nitric acid cocktail today, and landed in Boston City Hospital. The hospital surgeons pumped Xavier out and thought they could save him.

Xavier came from Haverhill for a job in Brockton, and was told to come along. He had carfare to Boston and started to walk the rest of the way. At 4:30 a. m., out on Neponset avenue, Dorchester, Xavier was very thirsty. He saw a box marked "B. E. R. Y.," with a demijohn on top and took a drink. The demijohn held a solution of zinc in nitric acid, used for tasting batteries.

Miss Emily Beebe Buried from Trinity

Some two hundred and fifty persons attended the funeral at Trinity Church today of Emily Esther Beebe, the daughter of the millionaire, J. Arthur Beebe, who shot herself last Monday at the Touraine.

The church was beautifully decorated. The Rev. Alexander Mann, rector, and the Rev. Herbert M. Smythe, rector of St. Barnabas' Church, Falmouth, officiated. A male choir sang hymns and the burial chant. The body was interred at Mount Auburn, the Rev. Reuben Kidner officiating.

Fine Nashua Ice Man for Short Weighing

NASHUA, N. H., July 24.—George E. Balcom, an ice dealer here, was in court today, charged by Mrs. Charles H. Burke with selling her short-weight ice. She said that July 9 she got "fifty-five pounds," which weighed thirty-one pounds, and June 29 she got "eighty pounds," which tipped the scales, she said, at thirty-nine pounds. Balcom was fined $10 on each count, and appealed.

Vitriol Is Upset, Burns Three Men

Guiseppi Dellotto, Guiseppi Durrello and Guiseppi Sacketti, while working at the plant of the United Shoe Machinery Company in Beverley were burned by acid today by the upsetting of a carboy of vitriol. The injured men were taken to the Beverley Hospital.

Blaze Destroys Chepachel Hotel

GLOUCESTER, R. I., July 24.—Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, today destroyed the Chepachel Hotel, two cottages and several outbuildings, causing an estimated damage of $20,000.

SURE GIRL, HEADLESS, WAS SLAIN

The girl whose headless body was found by Captain Charles White of the schooner Jennie Gilbert, out at sea, was murdered, Captain White today declared.

He amplified his first story of the finding of the body, and gave new details of its appearance. The murdered girl was not over nineteen years old, delicately and refined, and her head had been cut off.

Captain White believes she was killed on a trans-Atlantic steamer and thrown overboard. He found the body ten miles from the steamer track. It was in good condition, and had not been in the water over a few days—a week perhaps.

He said today:

Captain White's Story.

The woman—or girl—was murdered.

Her head had been cut off cleanly. I am no surgeon—know nothing of anatomy, and I could not tell whether the victim had been committed with an axe or with a knife.

But I was convinced, and my men were convinced, that the head had been severed from the body.

She was a young girl. I have daughters of my own, and I know I am right in saying she was between sixteen and nineteen years old.

We found the body ten miles from the steamer track. She did not weigh over 110 pounds—was slender and delicate. Her shoes were of American make. Her clothing was of expensive material.

She had on a fine corset—a silk waist and silk skirt—the latter torn to fragments. She wore high button shoes.

Her hands were smooth and soft as a baby's.

Had I been on my way into Boston, I should have brought the body in. It was in good condition. But we were outbound. It was July 16 when he found the body. So we buried it at sea.

No One Reported Missing.

It was impossible to get word of any disappearance on the big liners. The girl's death occurred, Captain White believes, sometime about July 9, half a day out from Boston.

Captain White's fuller description shattered the theory that it might have been that of Mrs. Austin S. Temple of Dorchester, who was lost off a Portland boat early in June.

Evelyn Thaw Is on Way to New York

LONDON, July 24.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is on her way to New York on the steamship Olympic.

She will return after her engagement at Hamerstein's, and in the meanwhile will leave her son with a nurse.

Corn Cobs in Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Representative Rucker of Missouri has introduced the corn cob pipe of his native State in the Democratic House as the latest evidence of Jeffersonian simplicity.

Mutinous Convicts Set Sing Sing Afire

Start Blaze That Sweeps Part of Penitentiary Plant.

OSSINING, N. Y., July 24.—Mutinous convicts, in open rebellion against their keepers, today made an attempt to destroy the entire Sing Sing prison property by fire.

They set fire to the clothing manufacturing building. The fire was extinguished by the prison fire department after it had swept the shoe shop.

The entire penal population is being kept under lock and key in fear of further outbreaks.

The threats to burn the prison building came early today after a night of wild excitement in the prison. As the fire progressed the criminals behind locked doors, set up a terrific din.

"We want Kennedy!" came the constant chant.

stunt chant above the din.

This protest against the removal of the former warden, who was indicted by the Westchester County Grand Jury, was the keynote of the entire rebellion.

Mrs. Pankhurst Again Goes Free

LONDAN, July 24.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, who was arrested during a fierce riot Monday and committed to Holloway Jail, was released today. The militant leader had inaugurated another hunger strike.

Mann Again Forces House to Adjourn

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Representative Mann again prevented the House from transacting any business today. Employing the same tactics he used yesterday, making a point of no quorum, Mann demanded a roll call and adjournment was ordered by a vote of 154 to 58.

Seek Men 'Higher Up' in Lamar Case

Rumor Indictment Was to Frighten "Wolf" Into Revelations.

NEW YORK, July 24.—It became known in federal court circles today that the real object of the government in secretly indicting David Lamar after his revelations before the senate lobby investigating committee was to frighten the "Wolf of Wall street" into giving up information of value contemplated action against the "Men higher up" in Lamar's campaign if impersonation.

The indictment was sent to Washington where U. Lar had arranged to give bond, but it was returned to New York without service and Lamar was informed he would not be arrested at this time

Hold "L" Motorman on Death Charge

Frederick Stockwell of No. 3 Ellwood street, Stoneham, who was operating an Elevated repair car which struck and killed James Black, June 23, was held for the Grand Jury in $2,000 bonds today in the West Roxbury court on a manslaughter charge.

Schooner Hit by Freighter Is Here

The search for the four-masted schooner which collided with the steamer Bloredyk off Nantasket and almost sank the steamer ended today when the schooner Gardner G. Deering of Bath, Me., appeared off Highland Light badly damaged and making slow way toward Boston. Tugs were at once dispatched to meet her.

ACCEPTS POST TO SUCCEED MELLEN

Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific Railroad, will tomorrow be elected president of the New Haven, to succeed Charles Sanger Mellen.

He will immediately accept the position, and by Sunday will have begun to gather into his fingers the reins that control the myriad departments of the road.

WILL BE AN OPERATING PRESIDENT.

He will be an operating president—not a financing president. Furthermore, he will be a customers' servant—not a Morgan servant.

The AMERICAN is authorized to make this announcement by a man who has had an active part in bringing about the choice of Elliott.

New England men have had a deciding voice in the selection of the new man. Those who control the destiny of the New Haven made this concession to New England's demand for a voice in the road's management.

The new administration will be a do-anything—a Rule of Two. Elliott will run the railroad, and Theodore N. Vail—Bran whom no man commands more fully the confidence of New England—will direct the finances.

What manner of man is Elliott?—is the question Bostonians and New Englanders are asking. And while Mellen's successor must be taken on probation for a time—all his life's history indicates that he will honestly strive to give New England a satisfactory service.

Mother Sister of Poet Lowell.

He was born in New York and his work has lain in the West. But he is a New Englander, and lives here much of the year. His mother, a sister of James Russell Lowell, is a resident of Cambridge.

He is a railroad man—preeminently. He has done nothing all his life but work at railroading, and has the reputation of knowing more than any man in the country of how to make trains run on time, at low cost, and of how to make those trains safe for passengers.

He comes to New England with the reputation of being a man who takes the public in his confidence. That is a part of his creed—to tell the people what he is doing. In New York yesterday he talked frankly with reporters about the possibility of his coming to the New Haven.

STEVENS TO BE A CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Republican leaders were in a talkative mood today, and their statements put a new Gubernatorial candidate in the field, and took a possible candidate out. Here's what they say:

Elmer Stevens, State Treasurer: "I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor against all comers."

Charles E. Hatfield, chairman of the Republican State Committee: "No chance for Foss on our ticket. He's taken his industrial boom to Canada—no one knows his tariff views—and he's given us an $8,000,000 tax. We got rid of him once—for good."

Ex-Senator Winthrop Murray Crane: "He sanction Foss as a G. O. P. candidate! Ridiculous!"

Benton Denounces Talk About Foss

Colonel Everett C. Benton, sole record candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, today issued a statement in which he denounced the "attempt to create an impression that Republicans are trying to induce the present Democratic Governor to head the Republican ticket." He says "these insinuations are unfair."

Deny Request of Rangers.

The War Department today formally denied the request of Representative Smith of Texas, that a company of Texas Rangers be allowed to cross the border to rescue the Americans now said to be in peril of their lives at Madero.

The department officials take the stand that no expeditionary movement of this kind could possibly be countenanced by the government. Private raids engineered by filibusterers would have no standing in the eyes of the world, and the United States could not legally take steps to protect such rangers if they were surrounded by federalist troops in Mexico and slaughtered.

Senator Bacon, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, after a conference with the President, refused to deny or confirm th rumor that Secretary of State Bryan was to head the Mexico Commission of Mediation and Conciliation.

"As far as I know," said Bacon, "no man's name has been mentioned for this place. I am sure that Mr. Bryan would be acceptable to all parties and would be one of the first men considered for so important a mission."

Senator Bacon said that the question of the United States acting as mediator in Mexico had been considered merely tentatively by the President.

"I do not believe that a policy of mediation will be adopted by this government," said Senator Bacon. "The United States would have to be invited to act as a peacemaker, and this I think will not occur. The suggestion is only one of many now being considered by the President, who intends to take no active step until after he has had an opportunity to confer with Ambassador Wilson."

Senator Bacon said that all the energies of the United States government would be devoted to settling the Mexican trouble without intervention, because the seriousness of this step is appreciated by all officials in Washington.

The Senator from Georgia also said that he could not conceive of any immediate developments which would force armed intervention and added that the protection of Americans and other foreigners in Mexico necessarily must devolve on the consuls and other government agents now in the republic.

NEW BEDFORD'S FIRST WOMAN WHALER DIES

NEW BEDFORD, July 24.—Mrs. Marion Smith, the first woman whaler to sail out of New Bedford, is dead at her home here. A month ago her husband raced his ship home to her sick bed, but he died before she did.

For twenty years Mrs. Smith went whaling with her husband, Captain Horace P. Smith, signing as assistant navigator. Last March Captain Smith took out the A. M. Nicholson to the Hatteras grounds. Mrs. Smith was stricken with cancer, and Captain Smith put in to port and sent her home for treatment. She became so ill in June that an ocean-going tug was dispatched to the Hatteras grounds to notify Captain Smith. The tug steamed 1,000 miles in three days and found the Nicholson. Captain Smith arrived home June 7. Mrs. Smith rallied and, on June 21, her husband died of heart trouble.

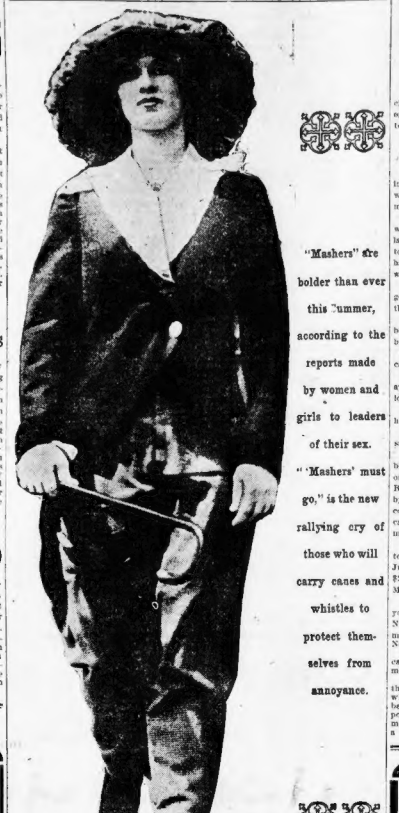
Change Route of South Boston Cars

Beginning at 7 a. m., Friday, July 25, and continuing during the rebuilding of tracks on Broadway Extension, between Harrison Avenue and Washington Street, all inward bound South Boston via Broadway Extension cars will be diverted from their regular routes at Dorchester Avenue and will run through Dorchester Avenue, Dover and Washington Streets. There will be no diversion of these cars from their regular routes outward bound. Upon the completion of the work on the inbound tracks, inward bound cars will resume their regular route and outward bound cars will be diverted through Dover Street.

Pickpocket Gets Drafts for $200

Robert Boyd, an elderly Scotchman, visiting his son, Robert Boyd, Jr., of No. 15A Charles street, Dorchester, fears that some pickpocket has his two drafts for $200, drawn on the Allen steamship line. Mr. Boyd ran out of cash on his vacation and started from his son's home with the drafts in an envelope for the Allen line office he took out the envelope empty. He is sure the drafts were there when he started. Payment has been stopped.

How Boston Women Will Rout Mashers



"Mashers" are bolder than ever this summer, according to the reports made by women and girls to leaders of their sex.

"'Mashers' must go," is the new rallying cry of those who will carry canes and whistles to protect themselves from annoyance.

BOSTON WOMEN READY TO WAR UPON 'MASHERS'

Smash the mashers!

The fight is on. The women have decided to arm themselves and smash the ogling loafer who hangs about the downtown street corners and at the beaches.

Here are the weapons:

A heavy cane.

A whistle.

The present Summer, the young working women of Boston say, has been the worst in history—the crop of loafing mashers has been the largest.

Charlotte Smith, that motherly soul who is the friend of the working girl, laid out the campaign. The girls came to her with their complaints of how they had been ogled and annoyed on their way home from work.

"If we call a policeman, the flirter gets away by the time the policemen gets there," said the girls.

So she laid out a campaign that she believes will frighten the masher out of business. In brief, it is this:

Smash the masher! Carry a heavy cane. Carry a whistle.

The smiling, simpering, ogling masher approaches. The girl goes straight on, looking neither right or left.

The masher comes closer, raises his hat, smiles and begins to say something.

Then—bang! "Hit him with the cane," says Mrs. Smith. "Hit him hard."

While he is trying to recover himself, blow that whistle which you can wear on a tiny light chain around your neck. Blow it hard. Help will come. Passers-by will stop. The nearest policeman will come a-running. The masher cannot escape. And there you are—one more masher in the lockup.

The latest example of the masher was told in the Malden District Court, when Judge Sweetser fined Edward F. Needham $25 for trying to flirt with Bessie H. Mullen of Crescent street, Everett.

Miss Mullen screamed for help. A young man heard her and pounced on Needham and pummelled him. A policeman heard the trouble and arrested Needham. The court did the rest.

But—if Miss Mullen had carried a cane and a whistle, it would have been much simpler.

The old scourge of the mashers on the Common will soon be cured and whistled out of existence, Mrs. Smith believes and hopes. Every girl her own policeman will do the trick and the masher will give the girl who carries a cane a wide berth.

KIDNAPED BRIDE IS DESERTED IN ARLINGTON

To be kidnaped in an automobile by over-enthusiastic wedding guests is a novel experience for any bride, but to be deserted in a strange town by the kidnapers, without even a nickel for carfare, is an adventure a bride will never forget.

Yet that is what happened to Mrs. Robert V. Kelson, of West Somerville, formerly Miss Hazel Edna Frost, of South Weymouth. She and Kelson were married last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Lord, of No. 26 Clarendon avenue, West Somerville, by the Rev. H. H. Hamilton. The bride is eighteen and the groom twenty-one.

During the wedding reception several of the guests locked the groom in a room and then ushered the bride to go for an automobile ride. About a dozen guests accompanied the unsuspecting bride. When the automobile reached the police station in Arlington Centre—about two miles from the bride's home—the bride was pushed out.

Standing on the sidewalk in her bridal raiment with a bouquet in one hand, she saw the automobile depart. She did not know where she was, but entered the station and asked the nearest way to West Somerville.

"Right straight down Broadway," said the officer. And she started to walk, escorted by two officers.

Meantime the party returned and liberated the husband. He was furious when told what had happened, but lost no time in starting on the run toward Arlington. He met his bride trudging along near St. Paul's Cemetery near the Arlington line. The newlyweds did not return to the reception.

May Settle Claim Against Railroad

Negotiations are under way for the settlement of the suit for $1,500,000 brought by John Marsh, a Chicago contractor, against the Southern New England Railroad. The suit is being heard in the Supreme Court of Massachusetts before Justice Braley.

Marsh has a contract for building a railroad between Palmer and Blackstone, with a terminus at Providence. The work was going on rapidly, when he was requested to stop in November, 1912.

The railroad admits that Marsh has a claim, but contends that the sum asked is exhorbitant, and hence the delay.

Marsh has appealed to President Mellen as well as to the president of the Grand Trunk Railway, but with no satisfaction, and now asks for the appointment of a receiver that his case may have a speedy hearing.

Gallinger Plays Mean Trick on Rose

Senate Reading Clerk Had a Tough Time with Coal Tar Schedule.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—When Henry H. Rose, assistant secretary of the Senate, arrived at his office today he wore a harrassed, haunted look. His mood was not lifted when Senator Gallinger entered with a hearty "Good morning" and an apparently radiant smile. Mr. Rose gritted his teeth and showed symptoms of apoplexy.

The reason for his perturbation was the insistence of Senator Gallinger yesterday that he read in full paragraph twenty-four of the tariff bill, dealing with coal tar products.

"Toluidine, xylidin, cumidin, binitrotoluol," he chanted; "binitrocumol, benzidin, tloidin, dianisidin, naphtylamin, diphenylamin, benzaldehyde, benzy, chloride, nitro-benzol and nitro-toluol, naphtylaminsulfoacids"——

At this point the gravity of the Senate gave way, and members joined the galleries in a burst of laughter. Secretary Rose refused to be stopped.

"Naphtolsulfoacids, amidonaphtolsulfoacids, amidosalicylic acid," he continued, "dinitrochlorbenzol, diamidostilbendisulfoacids, metanilic acid, paranitranilin, dimetylanilin."

Senate rules again were broken as he finished. Mr. Rose still is dazed.

Raised Mulhall's Pay to $800 Per

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Evidence submitted to the Senate "Lobby" Investigating Committee today showed that J. F. Porter of New York wrote to Colonel M. M. Mulhall on January 21, 1909, urging him to give A. P. Torrey necessary data for political organization work in Baltimore. At this time Mulhall was also busy in Rhode Island, organizing for Senator Aldrich.

In February, 1909, the National Association raised Mulhall's salary to $300 a month. On February 1 Mulhall wrote to George Gordon Battle of New York, law partner of Senator O'Gorman:

"I note what you say in your letter about thanking me for the service rendered your campaign last Fall."

Battle was running for District Attorney. Mulhall urged him to run for Governor.

TRY TO END DEADLOCK ON RAILROADS

NEW YORK, July 24.—Hoping they will end the deadlock and avoid the threatened strike of 800,000 trainmen on the Eastern roads the Federal Board of Mediators today went into consultation with the men's representatives.

Later in the day the mediators met the railway managers. The deadlock is over the insistence of the employers that their grievances also be arbitrated at the same time the men's demands are taken up.

The representatives of the men are bitterly against many of the grievances submitted by the roads. The mediators, however, hope to adjust all differences within twenty-four hours.

May Evict Mother of Five in West End

Says Husband Deserted Her to Elope with Girl.

Dependent on charity after her husband deserted her and their four small children to elope, she says, with an immigrant girl, Mrs. Rose Letzerovitz, of No. 8 Blossom street, West End, is threatened with eviction tomorrow.

Her son, Samuel, eleven, is in the custody of the State on a charge of stealing popcorn, the alleged offence occurring on the day the father left home.

Tuesday the State Board of Charities gave her $3, which she has been saving, although virtually without food, to use as a part of the $7.50 which she must pay for rent tomorrow or, she says, be put into the street with her little ones.

Neighbors have contributed some food to the family, and aid of this sort has also been given by the Chardon Street Home. The woman is seeking employment as a cook, believing that thus she can earn enough money to support a child of four, after placing the other two children in a home.

Bride Wins Vacation for Norwood Officer

Chief So Surprised at Wedding News by 'Phone He Consents.

Police Chief Lavers of Norwood is recovering today from two distinct shocks.

Patrolman Cornelius C. Murphy gave him the first when he eloped. Mrs. Murphy gave him the second when she telephoned from the North Station, asking permission for the patrolman to start from there on his vacation and honeymoon.

Chief Lavers hadn't heard a vacation was due just yet, but he gave his permission. He was so overcome he forgot to ask who performed the ceremony or where it took place.

Opposes Statue to Lee at Gettysburg

At the thirty-fifth annual gathering of the Manchester Elder Brethren at Manchester, Francis M. Stanwood said it would be "pure sophistry" to place a monument to General Robert E. Lee at Gettysburg.

Boston Women Who Have Made Good

NO. 3.—MISS MABEL GILLESPIE

By JOHN P. WHITMAN.

Has Miss Mabel Gillespie made good?

Those who judge success only by dollars and cents answer NO.

Those who realize that she has helped many thousands of girls to win higher wages and better conditions say YES.

Governor Foss answered in the affirmative when he chose her as one of the members of the Minimum Wage Board to investigate working conditions and advise upon wage standards below which no one should be employed.

Seven trade unions made up of girls and women whom Miss Gillespie has helped to organize believe she has been more successful than many women who have ten times larger salary.

Miss Gillespie has been the secretary of the Women's Trade Union League for four years and has no intention of giving up her position, although at any time she could have for one of several in which she could make far more than she does at present.

For twelve years, ever since Miss Gillespie left college and went to live in the Denison House settlement, her interest in the working conditions of women has increased.

Her first insight into a situation that she felt should be changed was in Philadelphia, where she assisted Miss Cornelia Handcock with tenement house inspection. She then learned how women with low wages are compelled to live, and made up her mind to strike a blow for her sisters if the way should ever open.

Her next move that bound her more closely to her sister workers was in New York State, when she was one of several to investigate the canning industry. For two months she donned the clothes of a working girl and went from factory to factory laboring beside others who had been employed for years, and who were dependent upon their wages for a livelihood.

When Miss Gillespie found that the best she could earn, working seventy hours a week, was five dollars, she understood something of the hardships women in the canneries were forced to endure. If conditions in these factories are any better today the change is partly due to one who worked at the trade but two months.

When Miss Gillespie is confronted with the question: "To what do you attribute your success?" she has an unique answer. She says:

"You mean to what do I attribute the success of working girls who are today getting eight dollars instead of six or are working but eight hours a day instead of ten and twelve? My answer is: Organization—the ability to work together—for the common good. I have seen many changes come to women and girls since they began to pull together and form unions.

"Garment workers, shirtwaist makers, paper mill employes, telephone operators, candy workers, carpet workers and silk waist makers, are today organized and working under better conditions than previously. What is more, the relations with their employers are far more pleasant and satisfactory."

Channing Whitaker Dead in Tyngsboro

LOWELL, July 24.—Channing Whitaker, old-time mill engineer, G. A. R. veteran, and former member of the faculty of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, died today at his Tyngsboro home. He was sixty-nine. His most treasured possession was an obituary of himself, published in a Boston paper during the Civil War when he was reported killed in battle.

Says New Yorkers Live on 35c. a Day

PITTSBURGH, July 24.—Dr. J. C. McNeil, chief of the Bureau of Food Inspection, has presented to Council a table of comparisons as between New York and Pittsburgh, which says that the average person in New York spends 34.8 cents a day for sustenance. In Pittsburgh the average is put at 37 cents a day.

Labor Inquirers at Ipswich Mills

The Legislative Committee on Child Labor today went unannounced to Ipswich to investigate the working conditions of the women and children at the Ipswich Hosiery Mills, where employes have been on strike. Committeemen Tufts, Hayes, Archin, Bonfish and Sullivan and State Officer Angus H. McDonald left the State House in an automobile at 11 o'clock.

"Swedish Concert" on Common Sunday

The Park and Recreation Department has made next Sunday's band concert on the Common the "Swedish Concert," in the national series which has been planned. Theron D. Perkins and his Boston concert band will render the instrumental selections, while two hundred mate vocalists from the Swedish singing societies will sing folk songs.

Tango Defended by "Diamond Jim"

NEW YORK, July 24.—James Buchanan Brady, known to the Great White Way as "Diamond Jim" Brady, has come out in defence of the tango skirt as well as the tango trot. "Diamond Jim" says as a flesh reducer nothing can touch the new fan-tango dances.

Old Silver Sale Brings $10,000

LONDON, July 24.—A sale of old silver plate at Christie's realized about $10,000. Lloyd paid $825 for an epergne with a pierced trellis stand, weighing 88 oz. 12 dwt., dated 1760. A sale of engravings at Christie's brought in $5,000.

FACTORY FIRE DEAD NOW 44; 29 RECOVERED

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 24.—Twenty-nine bodies of victims of the fire which destroyed the Binghamton Clothing Company's factory had been recovered up to this morning. The dead are now estimated to be but forty four. This low estimate is based on the fact that in the confusion following the disaster many names were duplicated in the lists of dead and missing sent out.

Coroner R. A. Seymour will begin his investigation of the disaster late this afternoon. Five other probes are promised. Labor representatives, the State fire marshal and the State factory investigating commission are on the ground and ready to begin an investigation to fix the responsibility for the catastrophe.

Government Would Save Meadow Larks

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Protect and encourage the meadow lark, for its principal diet consists of cotton boll and alfalfa weevils, grasshoppers and predaceous ground beetles, the Department of Agriculture advises. While the bird, it is acknowledged, does some damage to sprouting grain, its value as a destroyer of injurious insects is shown to be far greater.

Hotel Robbers in London Sentenced

LONDON, July 24.—Found guilty of being implicated in the robbery of guests at the Hotel Berkeley, many of whom were American tourists, Stephen Sherman and William Pel were each sentenced to fourteen years imprisonment today, James Sherman to ten years and Arthur James to seven years.

Drink Makes Thief of Prohibitionist

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 24.—J. C. Russell, once candidate for Mayor on the Prohibition ticket, pleaded guilty to horse stealing. He has served nine terms in lockups and lays his downfall to drink.

Hearings on Light Rates to Be Public

Queen Mary Acts in Westminsters' Strife

At Her Command Duke and Duchess Attend Dinner for Her.

LONDON, July 24.—By Queen Mary's imperious command the quarreling Duke and Duchess of Westminster attended the Duchess of Rutland's ball and supped there at the same table, the Queen's table.

This is the first time the disagreeing pair have been seen together in five years. That even the Queen should openly interfere in the marital affairs of a warring couple is unprecedented. The Duke and the Duchess were frigidly polite to each other.

ASK WALCOTT WHY HEALTH BOARD IS LAX

Chairman Walcott of the State Board of Health today will be asked to explain to the House Recess Committee on Tuberculosis why the laws relative to the "white plague" are not enforced; why sufferers lack hospital beds in many counties when there are hundreds vacant in the tuberculosis hospitals of Essex and Middlesex; and why, if the State Health Board is "on the job," those cities and towns not enforcing the law have not been fined $500.

The facts presented to the tuberculosis committee by its medical experts, after a tour of the entire State, are said to be startling. In many of the cities and towns, it is declared, hundreds of victims will die because there are no available accommodations for them. And it is to ascertain the reasons for this condition and why the State Board of Health has not asked the Attorney-General to enforce the law that Chairman Walcott will be called to the stand.

After investigating the situation in Malden, where there has been talk for some time of a tuberculosis hospital, but without result because of inability to agree on a site, the committee decided to plan a law empowering the State Board of Health to settle the site for hospitals where the local authorities cannot agree.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Mrs. Adela Miskiskaitis, president of the Lithuanian Women's Club, had the honor of being the first woman in Cook County to take out naturalization papers since the limited woman suffrage law went into effect.

SCORE BOSTON FIRE MENACE TO LIVES OF GIRLS

MISS MARY WIGGIN, Consumers' League secretary, who declares that Binghamton fire horror could be duplicated in Boston.

Miss Mary Wiggin, secretary of the Consumers' League, declares that the Binghamton fire, in which scores of girls lost their lives, may be duplicated in Boston and several other cities of the Bay State if existing conditions are not remedied.

"Girls work in peril of their lives in many factories in Boston, Worcester, Springfield and other places I have visited," she said. "I realize that the same thing which happened at Binghamton might easily happen to our girls here. In the matter of fire protection the Bay State is below any other I have inspected."

She told of visits to dangerous buildings in the vicinity of Boston. Mayor Fitzgerald also issued a warning. He said: "In no other place in the United States is such building construction permitted as here in Boston. The Binghamton fire could not have happened in Europe. Our whole country, but especially Boston, shows little regard for human life in the acceptance of fire risks."

Miss Wiggin said she knew of girls in Greater Boston who worked continually in fear of their lives from fire, and who had begged her piteously to see if something could be done to remedy the conditions under which they find themselves compelled to labor.

Turtle Returns After 46 Years

WEST HARTFORD, Ct., July 24.—Forty-six years ago Edward Keeney, caretaker of Fairview Cemetery, found a turtle and marked on its shell, "E. K., 1867." Keeney did not see the turtle again until yesterday, when Job Gibson found it five hundred feet from the spot where Keeney had freed it nearly half a century ago.

C. F. Murphy's Auto Hits Boy in Street

NEW YORK, July 24.—Automobile "54535 N. Y.," owned by Charles F. Murphy, struck George Chloe, sixteen years old, of No. 329 East Thirty-second street, while he was playing in front of his home, severely injuring him. Mr. Murphy was not in the car at the time of the accident.

"Only Social" Says Hale of Foss Call

Students of Summer Politics Are Speculating Some More.

The overnight visit of Chairman Matthew Hale of the Progressive State Committee to Governor Foss at his Summer home in Cohasset today, gave students of mid-Summer politics a new field for speculation.

Neither Mr. Hale nor Governor Foss would comment on the visit today. Mr. Hale insisted it was only a social call.

There was much comment over the call Chairman Charles E. Hatfield of the Republican State Committee made on the Governor last week, and now the politicians have something new to talk about.

Mrs. Sayre Plans Home for Mothers

Will Build First Institution of Its Kind at Oak Beach, L. I.

OAK BEACH, L. I., July 24.—Mrs. Robert H. Sayre, mother of Francis B. Sayre, who is to marry Miss Jessie Wilson, youngest daughter of President Wilson, will establish here a home for expectant mothers, the first institution of the kind in this country. She has signed a lease for five lots on the shore front and will erect the buildings this Autumn.

Mrs. Sayre's home for mothers will include five buildings. It will be the first of a series of prenatal feeding, educating and social centres, which Miss A. Mabel Parker, president of the Babies' Aid and Milk Station Association, hopes to install in the metropolitan district.

VATICAN IS BESIEGED BY SWISS GUARDS

ROME, July 24.—The Vatican is still in a veritable state of siege as a result of the mutiny of the Swiss Guards. Their demands, in the form of a memorial relating their grievances and setting forth the conditions on which they would remain in the service, have been flatly rejected.

Three of the leaders in the mutiny were expelled from the Vatican. Four others left voluntarily after this, and received have requested leave to depart to their homes in October.

Those who left were accompanied to the gates of the Vatican by their comrades. At the moment of separation they cried "Viva Garibaldi!" and sang the "Marseillaise." Never before was such a scene presented in front of the Vatican.

The guards have been relieved of their cartridges and rifles, as it was discovered that they had succeeded in concealing cartridges.

"L" ARBITERS TO OPEN WORK ON AUGUST 18

James H. Vahey and James L. Richards, arbiters in the dispute between the Boston Elevated and the Carmen's Union, met at the Pemberton square courthouse today, and after hearing a report on the condition of James J. Storrow, the third arbiter, postponed the beginning of the hearing in the controversy until August 18.

Mr. Storrow was operated on Monday for swollen glands of the neck, and is recovering at the Faulkner Hospital in Jamaica Plain.

A letter from Dr. Daniel Fiske Jones gave August 18 as the time when Mr. Storrow could attend.

It was announced today that the union has retained John P. Feeney as its counsel to present its case before the arbitration board when the hearing is begun. Frederic E. Snow, of counsel for the Elevated, will present the company's case.

General Organizer Fred Fay of the union said today he and every man and woman in the union regretted Mr. Storrow's illness and that they would willingly wait two months if necessary for his recovery.

Mr. Fay said every union member has the utmost confidence in Mr. Storrow.

CASSIDY TELLS OF 'PURE FOOD' DRUG STORE

Mr. Cassidy has discovered a model "pure food" drug store. There are undoubtedly many others. But this one is conducted on so high a plane, he thought it worth while to cite it as an example of how conformity to the strict letter and spirit of the Pure Food and Drugs act pays.

By HARRY P. CASSIDY.

"It is criminal to sell inferior drugs and medicines."

This statement in large letters adorns a sign hung over the prescription counter of Clarence A. Charles at No. 230 Ferry street, Malden.

The sign is indicative of the atmosphere of the model drug store. And it must pay. For C. A. Charles has conducted a drug store in Malden thirty-five years.

One look at the shelves and you know you are in a real drug store—not a store set about a soda fountain and a cigar case.

You can't buy a drop of liquor in this drug store. Mr. Charles won't even sell you malt. He knows it contains enough of alcohol to make it a beverage.

Guaranteed by Number.

But you can buy pure drugs. You can buy what your prescription calls for and it is all guaranteed by a serial number issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Best of all, you can buy pure soda water. A large sign hangs near the fountain. It reads, "We make all our own soda syrups from select ripe fruit and guarantee them absolutely free from artificial coloring or chemical processes."

I drank of the soda. The pure fruit was in the syrups—real raspberries, real, luscious strawberries, real crushed pineapple. There was no salicylic acid, no benzoate of soda, no abominable saccharin.

No open jars of crushed fruits were on the soda fountain counter to be a prey to flies. All were carefully bottled and kept near the ice to prevent fermentation.

There are some things you can't buy besides liquor in this model store. Call for some of the fake soups, nostrums that, fail to comply with the pure food laws, and you will be told "We don't keep them."

Points to Decisions.

Ask why, Mr. Charles points to a string from which hang decisions of the board of food and drug inspection. He has a pile of Department of Agriculture reports of judgments lying on the counter.

Take up one and read it. There you will be told that such and such a nostrum was found adulterated or misbranded or lacking in the thousand and one claims made for it as a cure-all.

You will be like ninety-nine out of ten, druggists who read these and hear them explained by Mr. Charles. You will not only be glad you can't get them, but you will realize in an every-day way the great good this ethical druggist is doing to enlighten the people of the frauds perpetrated on them for increased profits.

In one of the show windows is a sign telling you he doesn't display his high grade confectionery in the window during the hot season. Inside, in the showcase, is a pan filled with ice. The confectionery looks as fresh as if it was in the factory.

Is Mellen Going to Try Again?

By BEN AMES WILLIAMS.

If you had been, for ten long years, a target for the knocks—
If you'd been panned and hooted when a train went on the rocks—
If you'd been pestered half to death by faulty signal blocks—
A-running railroads, and some leaky boats;
Would you—once free—set forth and earn your living on the stage?
Would you, perhaps, get sore and fly into a tearing rage?
Or would you sit still on your farm, a-growing mint and sage?
WELL, Mister Mellen's gone to raising goats.

He's had his worries, more or less, for half a score of years.
But now he'll sit and laugh at his sucessor's doubts and fears.
With scrap book, and a pan of paste, and glistening six inch shears,
He'll clip the knocks this newest victim gets.
He served his Morgan masters with supreme fidelity.
And tried to disregard the way it worked on you and me—
And felt, at times, we do not doubt, 'twixt Devil and Deep Sea—
But now he has his turn at whaning bets.

But why should Old Doc Mellen get this goat thing under way?
He surely can't expect to make the blatting critters pay.
And anyway, they eat a tarnal lot o' oats and hay.
Not counting hats, and people's Sunday coats.
They say he quit the railroad game because his goat was lost.
But now he must be planning to redeem his awful frost—
To get another railroad job—and— counting up the cost,
He's laying in a good supply of goats.

Edith Deacon Is Back in Society

Lived Quietly Since Death of Sweetheart Peabody.

NEWPORT, July 24.—Miss Edith Deason, the pluckiest of American girls—a title she won after her long vigil in nursing her fiance, the late George Lee Peabody, the Boston and Salem clubman, in an effort to save him from the grave—is returning to society here.

Miss Deacon is to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. Livingston Beeckman at "Land's End" for the coming weekend. Saturday night a dinner party will be given by the Beeckmans in her honor.

Explosion Wrecks Melrose Windows

Gas Tank on Train Bursts with Roar Heard All Over the City.

With a roar that was heard throughout the city, startling thousands and breaking hundreds of pane of glass, an acetylene gas tank, six feet long and one foot high, exploded on an outward-bound Boston & Maine freight train early today, as the car was nearing the Melrose station.

The tank, bursting through the side of the car, flew high in the air. It alighted on the Melrose station platform, barely missing Samuel Cohen, a newsboy, and a passenger who was buying a paper.

Doors and windows in the grain elevator of C. B. and F. H. Dodge, were blown in. The windows in the Waverley block were shattered and panes of glass in houses on Cedar, Park and High street were broken by the explosion.

Practically every window in the residence of Aldermen John Dike, West Emerson street, was shattered. The loss is estimated at $1,500.

Cornerstone of Church Is Stolen

Workmen Discover Lose in Razing New Bedford Edifice.

NEW BEDFORD, July 24.—Some thief with a grim sense of humor has stolen the cornerstone from the Church of St. John the Baptist. As the theft took place anywhere between this week and forty years ago, when the church was built, the police fear that clews to the thief may be faing by this time, even for a New Bedford sleuth to follow.

In this copper box which the cornerstone hold were placed gold and silver coins worth $75, as well as interesting records. These were what the thief sought, it is supposed. The loss was not discovered until workmen, demolishing the church, came down to the very foundations.

Fierce Storms Sweep Italy.

MILAN, Italy, July 24.—Heavy damage is being inflicted throughout the entire Italian lake district, which is being swept by terrific hurricanes.

COURT WILL DECIDE ON SALE OF GILCHRIST'S

The Federal District Court is to give a hearing to creditors of the Gilchrist Company following a petition of the company's receivers for instructions as to whether or not they may accept an offer made by John T. Connor to purchase the company's stock, fixtures, good will and leases. The statement of the receivers to the court shows that the business of the company has been conducted at a profit. The receivers, however, say that in their opinion the business and assets should be disposed of without delay.

The statement also indicates that several offers to buy have been made, but that the receivers deem the one made by Mr. Connor the best received. The receivers are Charles F. Weed, Milroy H. Gibson and Edward R. Wilson. They were appointed five days after the suicide of William F. Butler, president of the William S. Butler & Company, owners of Gilchrist Company. The receivers declared the quick assets of the company, subject to verification by an inventory to be taken at the end of this month, total $765,000. This consists of $315,000 cash and accounts receivable, the report to the court says, and $450,000 of merchandise at estimated cost. The liabilities as shown by the books on the winding up of the receivership were substantially $800,000.

In making his offer to purchase, Mr. Connor excepts the cash, the claim of the Gilchrist Company against the Butler companies, and the accounts receivable for merchandise sold. The court is to fix a date for the hearing of the creditors of the company.

N.A.M. Asks $500,000 for Editorial Libel

WASHINGTON, July 24.—A. Parker Nevin, attorney for the National Association of Manufacturers, announced today that a libel suit for $500,000 would be filed against the Philadelphia North American because of editorial expressions regarding the Mulhall charges. John Kirby, Jr., president of the association, said that the organization is watching editorial pages. He threatened that "there will be some more newspapers crawfishing."

Blames Styles for City Vice

Downs Scored By Dr. Kate Waller Barrett of Crittenden Mission.

Hobble skirts, slit skirts, silhouette gowns, tango dresses—all the modern dress extravagances rule many a girl whose only real fault was that she was foolish, according to Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, national president of the Florence Crittenden Mission of America, who has recently returned from Europe.

She has been conducting an investigation in Boston, and her experiences have been startling. She opposes the idea that demi-mondaine should be segregated, as believes in getting acquainted with ol oes for trying to reform fallen women, b she says:

Must Dress Modestly.

Many women dress indecently for the street.

There are many dresses worn on Boston streets that should not be worn anywhere. They are too suggestive. This seems to be their aim.

If we are going to attack the social evils in cities and towns, we must attack several things.

We must begin to encourage women to know that they can look beautiful in garments which are made differently than many seen on the streets today.

I have traveled through twenty-seven countries, crossed the ocean seventeen times, got in touch with the social evil in many large places, and I do not think social evils are due to any one cause.

We have got to correct many incitements to the social evil.

First comes the manner of dressing. This is very important for the young women. Then we must create a higher sentiment in every community.

There are so many men and women who never use their minds. They let their tastes run wild with them. If they would only stop and cultivate a little common sense, based on the amount of gray matter they possess, they would not rush into the shackles of the social evil.

Then again, don't think that because a woman receives small wages that she is tempted to fall.

Many, yes scores of women with small wages are the 'salt of the earth, the virtuous few who season mankind.'

Now I went investigating right here in Boston.

I have looked on in several of Boston questionable resorts.

There are too many young women of tender age frequenting these places.

I asked permission of the proprietor of one of these places to speak to some of these young women, who are adding to our social evil in cities.

This happened right here in your congested part of Boston, not a great distance from the State House.

I found the young women I conferred with very susceptible of good advice. They don't use their mind. They just rush into the social evil with their eyes closed.

I think that if we people in representative position would meet among them more, they would do much good.

You have to go where the evil is, to correct it, not fire shots at it from afar.

Those people who are often condemned in public have more in them than we imagine at first sight, and when I speak of creating a higher sentiment in the community I mean that we should all try to go among them.

Your vice commission recently appointed, must not try to segregate vice. This is an exploded idea among reformers today. You can't get entirely rid of the social evil, but you can hold it in check and keep it under control. This is where many of our cities are defective in their policy.

All Roads Lead to Boston.

I do not wish to be understood as saying that Boston is worse than any other city that I have visited; far from that, but Boston is interesting in the way of studying social evils because it is a centre.

All roads in New England lead to Boston.

It is an easy centre for boys and girls from the country who wander here into the great white way. With all that I have talked to in this city, many of them have more or less been victims of circumstances. If we could only get hold of many of the young men and women when they first come to the city, and give them a little friendly advice, it would be the kind of prevention that I should be glad to see multiplied in every city.

Rhodes Scholars Return on Arabic

Five Students Declare Work at Oxford Is Strenuous.

Being a student at Oxford is pretty strenuous work, according to the verdict of five Rhodes scholars who returned today on the White Star liner Arabic. The five were Frank B. Bristow, son of Senator Bristow of Kansas; Walter S. Bryan of Georgia, C. B. Crosland of Alabama, W. Lloyd Williams of North Dakota and W. A. Zeigler of Iowa. The five have completed the four-year course at Oxford, where Zeigler gained fame as a shotputter and hammer thrower. They said the English A. B. degree requires as much work as an American Ph. D.

The Arabic brought 288 cabin and 524 steerage passengers. The liner passed the Argentine training ship Presidente Sarmiento, bound under sail for European waters, 210 miles out of Boston. The training ship sailed ten days ago. Its slow progress was laid to baffling winds.

Drops Guggenheim Suit for Divorce

CHICAGO, July 24.—State's Attorney Hoyne announces that he will not ask the Grand Jury to investigate the divorce of Mrs. Grace Guggenheim-Wahl from William Guggenheim. Mr. Hoyne said the statute of limitation barred the prosecution of any residents of Chicago in connection with the case.

Conductor Hurled Off Running Board

Walter Anderson, twenty-three, a conductor on the Quincy Division of the Bay State Street Railway, was seriously injured today when he was hurled from the runningboard of the car by an inward bound Hough's Neck car at a point near Adams Shore, Quincy. He was taken to the Quincy Hospital.

MANY FALL IN 2 DAYS' BATTLE NEAR SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, July 24.—Foreign residents of Shanghai are in grave danger as a result of the fighting between the loyal troops and the southern insurgents. A foreign naval brigade from the warships is being held in readiness to land.

The fighting, which began Wednesday morning when 10,000 insurgents attacked Kiangnan arsenal, broke out with renewed fury today. Thousands have been killed or wounded in the two days fighting.

The government officials are charging that Japan is aiding the revolt in the hope that the republic may be disintegrated.

That the government considers the situation alarming is shown by the declaration of martial law and the offer of a reward for the capture of General Chen Chi Mei, once Minister of Commerce, and General Hung Sing, commander of the southern troops.

Mystery Surrounds Lamar Indictment

Returned to New York Unopened by Federal Attorney.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Mystery surrounds the sealed indictment returned against David Lamar, "the wolf of Wall Street." The indictment was returned to New York unopened, it is said, after being forwarded to District Attorney Wilson in Washington, unopened. The local authorities were completely in the dark as to the reason for this course.

As the indictment was sealed they do not even know what charge has been brought against the Wall Street operator, who recently told under oath to the State lobby committee his amazing story of impersonating his public men in the interests of Henry Lauterbach.

Tobacco Company Again Faces Trial

NEW YORK, July 24.—The American Tobacco Company and the United Cigar Stores Company have been cited to appear in the United States Court of Appeals on August 21 to show why the Circuit Court's dissolution decree against the so-called tobacco trust should not be corrected to conform with the mandate of the United States Supreme Court.

EEKS SAYS TARIFF WILL HELP LITTLE

WASHINGTON, July 24.—With the enactment of the proposed tariff, this country will come to the parting of the ways so far as its fiscal policy is concerned, according to a declaration made by Senator Weeks of Massachusetts, during discussion of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill today.

"If the results are like those which have followed previous changes along similar lines, there will be no question about the verdict of the country when it again has an opportunity to pass on this action," said Senator Weeks.

He said that the Democrats gave as the reasons for the downward revision of the tariff the following:

"To reduce the cost of living; to curb the powers of the trusts; to develop competition, and to bring about a different distribution of wealth.

"It is proposed to do all these things without injury to any legitimate industry of the country," said Senator Weeks. "In my opinion the change in the tariff will have little or any influence in attecting any of these question.

Senator Weeks furnished a table to show that the American people must pay for advertising some $616,000,000 a year. He admitted that prices of commodities had increased but pointed out that wages also had increased.

"It has been demonstrated by investigations made by the bureau of labor that the purchasing power of an hour's labor has increased each year," said Senator Weeks. "In fact there is no evidence to show that the cost of living—net—is rising.

"It seems to be about stationary, for the statistics furnished by the bureau of labor and the census show that wages per hour have from 1896 to 1910 increased 31 per cent., while during the same period the commodities consumed by the wage earner have increased only 22 per cent.

REP. JOHN T. FLANAGAN OF WORCESTER.

John T. Flanagan is a Democratic Representative who represents the people and his party. The Democratic party declared against the ownership of street railways by steam railroads and it was opposed by the Governor, the Tax Commissioner, the Railroad Commission and the organized business interests of the State, as well as by the Interstate Commerce Commission, representing the United States. Mr. Flanagan, as a Democrat and a representative of the people, voted against this pernicious law, by which a lawless railroad was empowered to seize the street railways in more than half the State.

If the forty-five Democrats who were faithless to their party and to the interests of their State had followed Mr. Flanagan's example and voted to sustain the Governor's veto of the Western trolley bill, the success of the Democratic party in this State would be assured.

Suffragette Pelts Premier Asquith

MORLEY, Yorkshire, England, July 24.—Premier Asquith was again attacked by suffragettes. While he was proceeding to the town hall to receive the honor of the freedom of the borough, a woman ran screaming to his automobile and threw packages after packages of papers at the premier.

The police rushed to the premier's rescue and, after a desperate struggle, the woman was arrested. She was Miss Hier Jones, a well-known "votes" sympathizer.

Schwab Reorganizes Quincy Ship Plant

A reorganization was announced today from the offices of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company of Quincy, recently purchased by the Bethlehem Steel Company. Charles M. Schwab is a director and chairman of the executive board, but Rear Admiral Bowles retains his offices of president, director and member of the executive board. Henry G. Smith, general manager of the old corporation, is first vice-president and general manager. Harry Brown is second vice-president; Joseph A. Sedgwick is re-elected secretary-treasurer; Samuel T. MacQuarrie is clerk and assistant secretary-treasurer; Frederick A. Shick of the Bethlehem Steel Company is comptroller, and E. B. Hill, auditor.

100 Pounds May Be Parcel Post Limit

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Following Postmaster General Burleson's announcement of his proposed change in the size of the parcel post package limit from eleven to twenty pounds, Postoffice Department officials have declared that the department is not going to stop at a package limit of twenty pounds, but will go on to one hundred pounds as soon as it can take care of the business.

Report Mrs. Young Is to Resign Post

CHICAGO, July 24.—Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, is to resign, according to rumor current. Reasons were given variously as ill-health, opposition to the committee report in favor of a "home-made" spelling book, and disapproval of the six appointments to the board which Mayor Harrison is to make within the next two weeks.

Caruso, Bootblack, Has Man Jailed

Willing Bystander Failed to Return with Change.

This Caruso isn't the singer, but he shines just as brightly in bootblackdom as does Enrico in opera. Caruso—bootblack and cobbler of South Boston—on the stand in the South Boston District Court today told how when "Mike" Dobrofsky came into his shop, James Cunningham, a bystander, volunteered to change a $10 bill which "Mike" gave.

Cunningham was accused of going out to change the bill and of failing to come back. He was found guilty and sentenced to three months in jail.

Fall River Strikers Work for Charity

Carpenters to Give School Labor Free if They Win.

FALL RIVER, July 24.—Mayor Kay may today accept the offer of striking carpenters to continue work at the new Technical High School, allowing their wages to be collected at the end of each week by the Mayor's secretary and turned over to some charitable organization, in the event that they are successful in their strike.

Mayor Kay wants the school to be ready for the pupils in September. He has been trying to effect a compromise between master builders and carpenters.

Ocean Line Pool to Wage Traffic War

Several Steamship Companies May Clash in Bitter Contest.

BERLIN, July 24.—The battle between the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd steamship companies over the division of emigrant business and other issues may not be confined to these lines, but may eventually involve other trans-Atlantic companies belonging to the North Atlantic pool.

General Manager Ballin of the Hamburg-American lines admits a steamship war in prospect. He says his company will end its traffic agreement December 31. Competition for mail subsidies is rumored.

AND

MORE TO COME

Following is a list of bags and dress suit cases shipped from 28 Reade St., New York, up to date, and more to come. We did not know how many there were when we bought this stock, but it was estimated that it would take 200 large cases. These would make, if all shipped at once, a long freight train, because the cases are so large they could not all be shipped at one time by the Fall River boat: June 20, 29 cases; 23, 31 cases; 24, 23 cases; 25, 12 cases; July 12, 12 cases; 14, 30 cases; 15, 19 cases; 17, 12 cases; 18, 14 cases; 19, 14 cases; 22, 26 cases; 23, 24 cases, and more to come—we do not know how many.

What in the world we will do with so many bags and dress suit cases would be a mystery to almost any wholesale concern; much more so any retail concern in the country, but at the prices we are marking these goods it will not be any mystery to us. What we are troubled with at present is a place to put all these great cases. We promise the people greater values in bags and dress suit cases than were ever offered in any other store.

Yours truly, RAYMOND

Organized Ball Is Safe from Rivals

Lack of Stars Makes Big Leagues Immune from Any Possible Assaults

By W. J. MACBETH.

NEW YORK, July 24—Organized baseball is admirably fortified against possible opposition. In the big leagues, especially, is this true. The best territory is already represented in both major leagues, and, being firmly established, could put up a long game at "cut-throat" with any aspiring outlaw enterprise.

The major leagues have very wisely utilized the vast earnings of the ten years of peace by laying hands upon the centralized locations where park sites might be desired, and by building magnificent steel and concrete stands, with all attendant conveniences, where the populace has been educated to the very highest standards that obtain in baseball.

Every American League club, save New York, boasts the most modern type of plant and President Farrell's baseball operations are under way. The majority of National League clubs are fortified in the same manner and those that are not will be soon. When the ex-accomplished there will have been raised against possible opposition of a third major league something like $25,000,000 in real estate and fixtures alone.

Lack of Stars Safeguard.

Presuming, however, that capital would be willing to risk such a considerable outlay on mere speculation, that in itself would go a very short way toward assuring success to any rival enterprise. The greatest safeguard to the peace of organized baseball is the dearth of first-class playing material. The presidents of the big league teams expend several millions of dollars annually in still hunting for talent and in gambling on the minor league prospects unearthed by the scouts.

One need not look farther than the home doorstep for an illustration of the famine. No one in baseball pursues a more liberal policy than Frank J. Farrell, president of the tailend New York Americans. He has spent many thousands during the past five years, but his team is still where it was when Griffith threw up his hands in 1906. It will take Frank Chance a year or two to build up a club capable of making a favorable showing, and then he may count himself lucky. There is no sentiment in baseball.

The only way for major league clubs to get players nowadays is to go out and dig them from minor league obscurity, develop them and plant them where they may be called upon when the regular ball club is no stronger than its reserve strength. Connie Mack was possibly the first manager to realize the full importance of the "farm." He has bright prospects planted from coast to coast. By getting the jump on rivals it stands to reason that the crafty Connie has built up the most wonderful reserve force that can well be imagined. Connie stands conspicuously as an example that "to him that hath shall be given."

Yet in his business relations with his associates Mack is equally as lee. He purses the well known policy of clinging tenaciously to everything of value. Never for an instant would he entertain the idea of sparing some of his surplus strength to help out the weak members of the league. Idling on Connie's bench are a bunch of reserves that would add first division strength to almost any of the American League second division clubs. Philadelphia would be foolish to part with any of them, for its financial success depends directly upon the ability of the White Elephants to beat out all opposition. Strengthening an enemy is not one of Murfarre's approved rules. Peckinpaugh, of the Highlanders, is an example. Cleveland tries every way to keep this fellow from Chance. The Naps couldn't see him, but they wished to plant him in Toledo where he might be called on if needed.

As a result of the scarcity of the Cobbs, Speakers, Johnsons, Mathewsons and Archers those clubs who have been favored with the best talent are habitually raping at the door, if not enjoying the upper stories of the great amusement structure. By the same token it must be confessed that both major league clubs are but all-balanced. The weaker teams do not begin to class with the leaders, and usually the race is over by midseason.

Johnson Distributed Stars.

In the old American League days Ban Johnson, in his war on the National circuit, grabbed all the best talent of his rivals and so evenly distributed it throughout his eight-club circuit that most every entrant had a fair chance when the curtain rung up each Spring.

Something should be done to give the weak teams of the two major league clubs a better chance with the strong. It seems that a great deal of the best talent is going to seed with the first division clubs. Organized baseball has been rather too lax in the application of a roster limit. From May 15 to August 20, major league clubs are allowed to carry twenty-five players, and at other times of the year thirty-five players. These numbers appear altogether too liberal. It might be a good idea to get back to old conditions when eighteen players was considered a wealth of luxury for any club.

There is no way to supply the demand under the present extravagant policies. By limiting the rosters, the field will also be limited and the really high class players more evenly distributed.

Four Bikers Out for Brassard Title

The third of the series of popular brassard races, a one-hour contest behind the flying motors, is on the card for Saturday night at the Revere cycle track, and there is every indication that the event will equal in popularity the two previous ones.

George Wiley of Syracuse, the middle distance champion, is the present holder of the coveted shield, which carries with the prize the sum of $5 daily so long as that remains unbeaten. Wiley will have to ride on Saturday night, as he has been challenged by Jimmy Moran, the Boston boy, that if he can put up a race without breaking all his wheels he can defeat the champion.

In addition to Moran there will be two more men in the lineup. One is Julien Rudolphe, the little Frenchman, who has been making a great showing lately, and the other is Eraie Tyre, the Australian, whose appearance Tuesday night met with the approval of the fans.

Gardner Comes Up in Western Tourney

CHICAGO, July 24.—Robert A. Gardner, of the Hinsdale Club, former national champion, crowded in among the leaders in the Western Golf Association's annual tournament by defeating Mason Phelps, twice Western title holder, 3 and 2, in the second match round, after thirty-six holes of brilliant play.

"Chick" Evans, present Western champion, went through the rounds easily enough, defeating Frank Welsh, the Rockford star, 4 and 3. Only one out-of-town contestant remains among the eight survivors in the struggle for the championship. He is "Ned" Sills of Milwaukee, who downed J. N. McDonald of Chicago, 4 and 2.

Henry Heyburn, the Louisville crack, lost to A. C. Perry, a local player, 3 and 1.

Umpire Picks U. S. to Win Davis Cup

LONDON, July 24.—Mr. Schmidt, who will act as umpire at the International tennis match at Wimbledon, Friday, is quoted by the Daily Mail as saying:

"I wish the British team luck, and I fear they will need it if they are to retain the Davis Cup. I think we shall win the doubles, but the United States will win the cup through McLoughlin's fine playing."

PILGRIMS LEAVE FOR WEST AFTER TODAY'S CLASH

The Pilgrims and Cincinnati Reds finish their series at the South End grounds this afternoon. After the game both teams will depart for the West. The game will begin at 3 o'clock, a half and hour earlier than usual, so as to allow the teams to get the 5:32 train the Reds going home, and the Pilgims to Chicago.

A victory this afternoon means much to either team. It will give the Reds an even break for this Eastern series and will square matters for the Pilgrims with the Cincinnati team. It will also give the Pilgrims a chance to get as many victories as losses during this stay at home, as they have won eight and lost nine up to date.

Perdue May Pitch.

It remains for "Hub" Perdue to do the honors for the Pilgrims in the box today. Perdue has been used very frequently at home this time. As this is the last home game, Manager Stallings may decide to send Walter Dickson after the Reds and, by so doing, give Perdue a complete rest. Dickson has not worked since Saturday when he turned in a very creditable showing against the Cubs.

"Mince" Brown or "Red" Ames will work for the Reds. It's a tossup between them. Brown has already won two games against the Pilgrims, doing so this series as a rescue pitcher. The number of balls he pitched in both games could be counted on one's fingers, still he worked with such success that Manager Tinker may send him right back today.

Smith Hitting Well.

Young Fred Smith will probably remain in the outfield. Bris Lord's hands are in prime shape and neither Clymer or Titus are in shape to play.

Smith is by no means a wonder in the outfield as he is not accustomed to covering that territory but his hitting is what counts. In yesterday's game he got three clean swats for a total of four bases and all figured heavily in the scoring. Smith sang Mama hit the ball hard and combined with the good pitching of Tyler it was all Boston needed to get the third game of the series by the score of 4 to 1.

Packard, who twirled for Cincinnati, was turned up at a pretty lively pace when hits meant runs. A rumor had it that Packard had been released following the game but Manager Tinker denied it.

Joe Connolly's ankle still gives him considerable trouble. Nine innings he will probably be given a rest when one of the other outfielders is in shape to play.

Golf Season Opens at Woods Hole

WOODS HOLE, July 24—The Summer season at the Woods Hole Golf Club has begun. Tom McNamara and Michael Brady opened it in an exhibition match. The match was thirty-six holes, medal play, and was won by McNamara with a total card of 150, against Brady's 166.

In the morning round, McNamara went out in 42 and in in 39. Mike Brady was only one hole behind him, going out in 43 and in in 39. McNamara substantially bettered his score in the afternoon, going out in 38 and in in 39. Brady in the afternoon went out in 39, bettering his morning score by four holes, but lost them when he came in in 44.

White Sox Come East Without Ed Walsh

CHICAGO, July 24.—The Chicago American team is on its way to Boston without Pitchers Walsh, White, Lange, Catcher Sullivan and Outfielder Mattick. Badge, the third baseman, has been retained from Seattle, accompanied the team. Pitcher Millet has been released to the San Francisco Club of the Pacific Coast League. He was formerly a member of the Seattle club.

Somerville League Opening.

The Somerville Baseball League season will open next Saturday afternoon, when the Lincoln Club and the Somerville B. B. C. nines will play at Lincoln Field, and the Brown Class and the Somerville Medford teams clash on Tufts Oval. Major Charles A. Burns will throw out the first ball at Lincoln Park.

HOT LINERS

Pitcher Boehling established the season's record in the American League when by defeating the White Sox he won his eleventh straight victory.

Lefty Hamilton's string of six victories was broken when the Athletics took the Browns into camp.

* * *

Outside of the sixth, when the Pirates got their two hits, Rube Marquard held them hitless and the Giants made it a shut-out for the third victory over Clark's men.

* * *

Dodin used six pitchers and thirteen other players, but the Phillies could not stop the Cubs' slaughter.

* * *

McGraw had a chance to get young Jack Kommers, who is starring in the Pirate outfield, but passed him up, according to a yarn that emanates from Springfield, Ill., where Kommers played on the local Three I League team.

Hamilton, Weilman and Lavezzo of the Browns form probably the strongest group of left handers owned by any team.

Tom Hughes of Washington says that when his pitching days are ended he wants to become an umpire.

* * *

Youth is being served in the American League race for batting laurels, but in the National League the old timers are crowding near the top, with such names as Cravath, Crandall, Kling, Wagner, Huggins and Titus in the front ranks.

* * *

The Buffalo club is reported to have refused $10,000 for Second Baseman Frank Truesdale. He once was with the St. Louis Browns, and Scout Charley Barrett declared at the time that he was sure to make good eventually.

* * *

Promoters of the California Winter League have made their plans for the coming season. There will be eight clubs in the circuit—Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Barbara, San Bernardino, Long Beach, Oxnard, Bakersfield and Santa Ana.

Kilbane Plans Trip Around the World

CLEVELAND, O. July 24—Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, has extended his trip to Ireland to a trip around the world. He will box the best boys in his class in England, Australia, France, Ireland and elsewhere.

Fleming Gets Match.

NEW YORK, July 24. Frankie Fleming, the featherweight champion of Canada, and George Kirkwood of St. Louis have been matched to meet in a ten-round bout here Saturday night.

WRIGHT-LARNED WIN DOUBLES AT LONGWOOD

Three doubles matches on the Longwood Cricket Club's courts furnished plenty of good tennis for the spectators in the fourth day's play in the Eastern singles and doubles tennis champion ships.

The first match to get under way was between B. C. Wright and W. A. Larned vs. F. C. Baggs and S. H. Voshell. The former, as ex-national singles champions, playing a very good form. This fact was naturally conceded the match before they stepped on the courts, but the onlookers were given a little start when this almost unbeatable New York team settled away with the first set in 6—3.

Baggs showed some remarkable tennis in the first set, and his volleying was a feature of the match. The pace proved too hot for him, however, and in the second set he was unable to keep up the steam and strength that had made his shots so effective in the first part of the match.

A deuce set was the eventual outcome of the second set. The titlists, after leading six games to five at one period, lost the next, with Larned making many errors; but this was the last stand the New Yorkers were able to make, as the champions took the next two sets, allowing their opponents but five points in the third set while this was being played.

Baggs kept slipping from this point on, the third set being run out in six games to love, and the next settling the match in favor of the favorites.

The score by sets was 3—6, 8—6, 6—0, 6—2.

Somerville Boy Won't Play 'Pro' Ball

RALEIGH, S. C., July 24—Walter Whittaker, formerly of the Somerville, Mass., High School and Worcester Academy baseball teams, has absolutely refused to sign a contract to play with the local club. He intends to enter college in the Fall and does not care to injure his amateur standing. In a recent game here Whittaker went in as a pinch hitter and clouted out a home run.

Johnny Murray, the Everett, Mass., High School pitcher, was secured by Raleigh this Summer, but he did not make good and was allowed to go unconditionally, as none of the other teams in the league made a bid for his services.

Whittaker, in order to remain with Raleigh, will have to attach his name to a contract, but he says that he will not sign one. Earl Mack has made him a good offer, but Whittaker intends to return home today.

St. Alphonsus Crews Will Enter National

The rowing committee of the St. Alphonsus A. A. will enter an intermediate single, double and four in the National Regatta on August 9 and 10. With the entry of the St. Alphonsus Club every one of the local organizations will be represented in the events.

The committee in charge of the regatta may decide to put on a whaleboat race. Several suggestions have been made of such an event, and it may be eventually pushed through.

Red Sox-Syracuse Game Postponed

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 24—The game scheduled for today, between the Boston Red Sox and the Syracuse Stars of the New York State League could not be played this afternoon because of rain. It was postponed until August 27.

The Sox planned to make an earlier start for Boston than was intended, arriving there tonight instead of tomorrow morning. They will open their campaign at home tomorrow with the Chicago White Sox as the attraction.

McCoy Victor in Maplewood Golf

MAPLEWOOD, N. H., July 24.—Skilled approaching and sure putting won the July handicap tournament for L. E. McCoy of Glen Ridge C. C. A ten-yard putt gave him the third hole and one of as many from the eighth. These and a fifteen-yard ringer on the seventh formed an enviable record and helped considerably to down his opponent, W. Hall Payne of Glen Ridge, 3 up and 2 to go.

N. A. Small, Boston's only hope, was eliminated in the semi finals by the winner, 4 to 2. Payne won his morning match and his position by defeating Dr. L. H. Losee of Dyker Meadow with a score of 2 to 1

La Verne, Nott Larry, if You Please

CHICAGO, July 24.—A mistake has been made in the prefixes of Comiskey's $18,000 outfielder. Also the pronunciation's name has been spelled wrong. The high-priced recruit declines his real name is La Verne Chappell, there being no "e" at the end.

The name "Larry" is a nickname, applied since he began playing baseball. "Larry" also denies that he is French. His father, Fred Chappell, was American born, so was his grandfather. The latter was born and spent his entire life in Jersey County, Illinois.

Cross Bout Will Make or Break Baldwin

Charlestown Lightweight in Twenty-Round Battle on Coast Next Tuesday.

By JACK CONWAY.

MATTY BALDWIN'S ring rating will be decided when he clashes with Leach Cross in a twenty round bout at Vernon, Cal., on next Tuesday evening if the Charlestown boy can defeat Cross he will be in line for a bout with Champion Willie Ritchie, but if Matty is vanquished by ton New York dentist he will be placed in the discard.

It will be the crucial battle of Baldwin's career. He realizes this, and is in excellent condition for the fray. Matty is finishing his training at Venice, which is a seashore resort and one of the best training spots on the Coast.

Cross has been made a favorite in the betting. True, Matty bested the Gotham glove wielder in a bout here in the Kast, but that was before Leach "came back" and forged his way to the front ranks of the lightweight division.

Baldwin and Cross are both veterans of the ring. Matty is twenty-nine years of age, and has been fighting for thirteen years, while Leach is twenty-seven years old and has been earning a livelihood by the power of his fists for seven years.

BEAT MANDOT AND ANDERSON.

CROSS has done some excellent work in the ring during the past two years. His most recent victories were over Joe Mandot and "Bud" Anderson, both of whom were knocked out. Leach also was a big factor in causing the downfall of "Knockout" Brown. He fought the blonde haired Dutchman in New York a year ago last June, and, although the contest was declared a draw by many of the New York newspapers, Brown was on the receiving end of many terrific punches, and he would have remained down for the first count if he never got one of the cabaret boxers developed in recent years. Cross is not a flashy boxer, but is a remarkable hitter. He will battle any lightweight in the world whom he can hit on the point of the jaw with a right hand punch. Mandot made Cross look like a novice at New Orleans for eight rounds, but when Leach landed his famous wallop it was curtains for the Frenchman. Cross has been doing a great deal of fighting during the past year and is able to travel twenty rounds at a fast pace.

MATTY FAVORITE ON COAST.

BALDWIN has many admirers on the Coast. He defeated Willie Ritchie in San Francisco two years ago, while he fought great battles on the Coast with Freddy Welsh, the English lightweight champion, and Frankie Burns of California.

Baldwin is far from being all in. He recently bested "Young" Shugrue in a fifteen-round whirl in New Haven. Shugrue is one of the best lightweights in the East, and has won over Leach Cross.

If Matty can defeat Cross, he will be in a position to demand another bout with Ritchie. But if the Bunker Hill fighter is to conquer Cross, he will have to fight like a demon throughout the twenty rounds, for Cross is liable to cripple Baldwin at any time with his right-hand punch.

GALLANT HOPES TO WIN.

EDDIE MURPHY and Gilbert Gallant should furnish a good bout at the Atlas Club on next Tuesday night. Murphy is a skilful boxer, while Gallant is a rugged fighter. He is also awkwardly clever, and Murphy will be carried along at a merry pace throughout the bout.

There are a number of "fans" who believe that Murphy will win easily. They must not forget, however, that Gallant made Battling Nelson look like an amateur, as he gave Matty Baldwin a hard battle. Baldwin was awarded the decision, but the verdict was a questionable one. Gallant also shaded "Young" McDonough at Manchester, N. H., while McDonough fought a draw with Jack Britton, who knocked out Murphy.

Gallant is a peculiar sort of fighter. He seems to adjust himself to the style of his opponent. He outfights the fighters and gives the clever boxers plenty of trouble.

WINNER MAY MEET EAGAN.

THE winner of the Murphy-Gallant bout will probably be signed to swap punches with Joe Eagan. Eagan is confident that he would be able to humble either Murphy or Gallant.

WALSH STILL ON WARPATH.

JIMMY WALSH is still seeking a match with one of the "cheadliners." There are many followers of the ring game who would like to see Jimmy in action in this city again. He will take a champion or a near-champion to task. Walsh is a battle, as has been stated in this columns before.

NO OPPONENT FOR JIMMY.

CHARLES LEDOUX has been suggested as an opponent for Welsh. The French bantamweight, however, will sail for France today, accompanied by Marcel Thomas. Johnny Kilbane or Frankie Burns would be able to make things mighty interesting for Welsh, but it would be a difficult mastey to get either of these boxers to consent to perform at this time of the year.

Free Baseball Tickets for You, Fans! Root for Red Sox! Root for Braves!

If you hold one of the numbered baseball checks which the AMERICAN has distributed broadcast, it would be well for you to closely scan the sport pages of the AMERICAN'S Sporting Extra Edition today, tomorrow and every day until further notice.

Every one of the small checks which have been, and are being distributed, is numbered. The AMERICAN prints, each day, in the Sporting Extra Edition 100 duplicate numbers. If you hold a check, all you have to do is to compare the number printed on it with the list of numbers printed in the Sporting Extra Edition each day and, when a duplicate of the number you hold appears in the AMERICAN, it entitles you to a free ticket to any one of the Red Sox or Pilgrims' games—take your choice, it costs you nothing.

"Standing room only" is the watchword at Fenway Park, and at the Walpole street grounds these days, but holders of AMERICAN numbered checks do not have to stand up, as the tickets now being issued entitle the holders to a grandstand seat at any game and at any time during the season of 1913.

Remember, all you have to do is to watch the daily list in the Sporting Extra Edition of the AMERICAN, and when a duplicate of the number you hold appears, bring or send same to the AMERICAN Promotion Department, No. 5 Winthrop square, and you will receive a free ticket to any one of the Red Sox or Braves' games on the home grounds.

If YOU haven't yet obtained any of these checks, ask your newsdealer or newsboy, who will be glad to supply you.

Checks may also be obtained at AMERICAN Promotion Department.

Watch your numbers carefully if your number does not appear today it may tomorrow. When it does, it means a free Red Sox or Pilgrim ticket for you.

Golf Notes

Open golf tourneys are few and far between during the Summer months but that has not kept the various clubs from conducting their match play events that were started in May and June for the various important club titles.

At the Chestnut Hill Golf Club, the individual championship has been recently settled and A. Maurice Crosby won the title. He defeated H. Nelson Raymond, rated as the best player at that club in the thirty-six hole final by 8 2.

The Consolation flight have been struggling along with the "House of Carey" very much in evidence in the top half of the draw. Three members of this family filed three of the four places in the first two brackets of the draw and after they had beaten one another properly F. R. Parks settled all arguments by defeating the surviving Carey, in order to meet W. S. King in the final, yet to be played for the consolation trophy.

At Albemarle William Hickox, Jr., the youngest and best player, opposes L. C. Stanton, a veteran, and one of the best loved men in the club. Hickox has a handicap of six and Stanton eighteen, and with this handicap allowance the final contest should be very close.

Joe Jeannette Only Foe for Langford

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—Now that the local authorities have set the seal of disapproval on the four-round bout between Sam Langford and big Charlie Miller, it is not easy to figure out what is ahead of Langford in the boxing line.

The white hopes to a man are averse to meeting him, and it looks as though Langford will have to concentrate his attention upon a match with his old rival, Joe Jeannette.

New York was first to frown upon mixed matches, and then Los Angeles followed suit so far as the writer recollects, there was no declaration of intention on the part of the San Francisco promoters; but the white hearts, outside of Miller so far, have rendered such a course unnecessary. They have given out that they are too busy trying to find out who is the real white champion to give any thought to mingle matches at present.

Los Angeles is not averse to matches between colored fighters, and it may be that Langford and Jeannette will get together in the city named. The only trouble is that Jeannette has made several poor showings while Langford was away in Australia, and is not by any means the card he used to be.

Surprise in Omaha Tennis.

OMAHA, July 24.—The biggest surprise in the fourth national clay court tennis tournament was sprung today when Rolland Hoerr, St. Louis who won the Missouri Valley championship last week at Kansas City, was eliminated in the fourth round by R. Larmon, an eighteen-year-old boy, by the score of 1—6, 6—4, 6—3.

LITTLE LOST SISTER — By Virginia Brooks

A Story of the Author's Own Experiences in Chicago's Underworld

Copyright 1913, by American Journal and S. F. and I. A. Lamberg

CHAPTER XX.

A Few Final Remarks

IN suggesting a remedy for the evils to which I have tried to direct attention in the preceding chapters of this story, I feel that it is incumbent upon me to admit the difficulties that confront workers for sociological reform, both as to the formulation of a plan which shall meet the approval of all religious denominations and as to the methods by which such a plan may be put into practical and effective operation.

It strikes me that the most important essential to a better state of public morals is constructive rather than reconstructive action—that is to say, we must prevent the tigning out of untaught children from the public schools instead of waiting until these children have become versed in evil and then attempting to apply remedial measures.

In brief, we are placing the cart before the horse. Instead of teaching boys and girls the essential truths about those physiological processes of nature which most parents religiously lie about and conceal, we leave them to find out in the bitter school of experience what should have been impressed upon them plainly but tactfully as an integral part of their school training.

I consider the teaching of sex hygiene in every public school in the United States the first essential to a wide and general improvement in public morals. There is no disguising the fact that the mystery thrown about sex in our present system of child-teaching makes for pruriency and promotes evil.

Beginning in Public School

The beginnings which have already been made toward instruction in sex hygiene in the schools of Chicago indicate plainly benefits that would be derived from a wide extension of the system. The old notion that such instruction would establish evil in the mind of the child has been dissipated completely by actual results so far attained.

Lectures and discussions upon the subject of sex have been received by girls and boys alike with serious and earnest interest, and I do not believe that any teacher connected with this work has been able so far to report other than a thoroughly satisfactory result.

When we look the situation in the face as it is, for instance, in Chicago—when we glance over the records of the Juvenile Court and the Juvenile Protective Association—recognition is forced upon us of the fact that in this day of moving pictures, vaudeville shows, sex dramas and the like, the average girl of fourteen is a sophisticated young person. In fact, before she reaches that age, there are few things left for her to learn with regard to the so-called mystery of sex. It is unfortunately often true that she receives her ideas and impressions from companions in the school classes, through the confidence of associates outside the schoolhouse and even from girls she may meet in her Sunday school class.

I believe that there should be complete and authoritative instruction for all children, girls and boys, and the authoritative source, in my belief, should be the public school. The teaching of sex hygiene in the school should be reinforced with all the resource of the religious instructor and the churches should see to it that there are classes to supplement those of the schoolhouse in driving home the lesson which children must be taught if we are to banish the social evil.

"In the city of Chicago the most fundamental and radical wrong that is allowed to exist is the dance hall. It is a crime against civilization."

Education as the Remedy

Education, then, is the basis of the remedy. Given sound instruction in early youth, the child of either sex is forearmed as well as forewarned. A girl so grounded in the essentials of sex knowledge is far less likely to fall a victim to sex emotion than the girl whose ideas of sex are fogged in mystery which native curiosity may solve to her own destruction and to the bitter sorrow of her posterity.

The boy who has been taught respect for and comprehension of the sex relation is certain to acquire a broader and manlier view than that which is born of "gang" discussions.

At all events, the best authorities of this period in the world's advancement are agreed that a marked improvement is observable in the moral tone of both boys and girls who have received such instruction.

I am quite aware that there will be many objectors to the theory of general sex instruction on the score that parents are the most competent instructors of their own children in such matters. And this is very true as far as it goes, but the trouble is that it does not go far enough. It is the lamentable fact that there are far more incompetent than competent parents and the net result is that children in the mass are left to find out for themselves through all sorts of doubtful channels the fundamental facts of life.

While we are upon this phase of the situation I will take occasion to declare that the conditions in any of our public schools, as far as the morals of the boys and girls attending them are concerned, may well be considered appalling.

We find in many instances after girls from thirteen to fifteen years are taken into the Juvenile Court on charges of immorality that they became depraved while little more than babies, through associations in public schools. If there exists in the mind of any person who has read these articles a doubt concerning the accuracy of this statement, I refer such doubters to Judge Mary Bartelme of the child's court, who will bear me out in it and supply detail sufficient to convince any skeptic.

Church Must Bestir Itself

The Christian church must bestir itself. The modern spirit among churches is directed toward promotion of good citizenship, purer city government, the elevation of political standards. In pulpits all over Chicago ministers are preaching the gospel of civics. They are urging the election to office of worthy men and women who are regular attendants of the churches, but they are not beginning at the beginning.

The big problem is to reach that great body of boys and girls that scorns the doors of the church because of the stiff-collared religion that is dispensed behind them. To reach these young people the policy of the Christian church will have to be radically changed. I mean that part of its policy which concerns the care and government of its youth. To appeal to these young people, the human side of the church must be emphasized. The abstract does not appeal. The need for reality in religion is what is felt by the thousands of boys and girls now adrift in Chicago, subject to no church influence whatever. The church that is beginning to incorporate ideas of social service is that church which brings God to the people.

The districts around the churches might well be covered by them. It is true that this is done by some of the more enterprising ministers, but a majority could do much more. And here again one finds the spirit of democracy entering in. If the women of the congregations will volunteer to canvass the boarding houses, list the young girls and young boys in the neighborhood, and endeavor to bring them into the churches, it will not be long before they have regained a hold upon the young people of the city

Dance Hall an Evil

In the city of Chicago the most fundamental and radical wrong that is allowed to exist is the dance hall. It is a crime against civilization. It is a crime against the helpless boys and girls of a great city to place them in the hands of a great and powerful trust of the liquor interests and let temptation come to them, grapple with them and ruin them

While we are wondering why boys and girls go wrong, we are overlooking the simple laws of life. Half the recreations that are planned have the one motive in view, to afford a meeting place for the lone boy or girl, and opportunity to become acquainted. We have been laboring under the misapprehension that boys and girls must be kept apart. We have seen the result of these old-fogy teachings. We find it in the men's clubs and in the women's clubs, and even in the Sunday classes.

I believe this theory to be false. Before we can reach an ideal method of living we will have to abolish such theories and strive to bring our boys and girls up together, with the necessary supervision until such time as the race has learned its lesson that boys and girls must be reared together.

Double Moral Standard

The double standard of morals is responsible for this old notion. In the face of the moral teachings of today, nothing can be more idiotic than the archaic double standard. We are told that the double standard is a necessity and that it will never be abolished. The man who said, "Women of the civilized world, you can never expect the regeneration of your sex as long as you sit upon the laps of your sisters' sedan," spoke the truth. Women must demand and enforce the single standard of morality.

An important element in the remedy for vice conditions in Chicago is the regulation of the saloon. I am not advocating abolition of the saloon at the present time, because I do not believe it practicable, but I do advocate regulation of the saloon in such a way that it shall no more be permitted to conduct its business behind screens and barred and curtained windows. There is no more reason why a saloon should be allowed to shroud its doings in mystery than that any other business conducted according to law should be operated in so dark and devious a fashion.

Let us tear out the screens, do away with the double doors and take the curtains out of the windows. If men must drink let them do so openly. Once the drink emporium is as public as the butcher's shop it will lose much of its influence for evil.

Abolish "Family Entrance"

There must be absolute abolition of the "family entrance," which is the label of the saloon back room, where girls are lured to destruction and where "Watchful Johnnies" in the pay of the Vice System lie in wait for victims.

I cannot conceive of one argument that could be logically advanced in favor of the retention of the saloon back room. My investigations have proved beyond doubt that they are the most dangerous places now operating when taken in connection with low dance halls and hotels. With the abolition of the back room the wings of the liquor cormorant would have been pretty effectually clipped. It goes without saying that the issuance of special licenses to dance hall proprietors should be stopped summarily, for even without the findings of the Illinois Vice Commission there is sufficient evidence to condemn this practice as an outrage up public decency and morality.

Finally, we must have a public employment bureau conducted by the municipality and managed by competent women. Chicago should let it be known that every girl coming to the city is expected to register with the bureau as a preliminary to every other activity, and the bureau should use its efforts to get employment for girls. A "follow-up" system should be maintained in order that girls placed in positions may be kept in touch.

Check Upon Hotels

It also is important that a list of boarding houses and hotels investigated by the officials of the bureau and found safe should be maintained for the use of girls and women coming to the city as strangers and seeking respectable places to live. This is a difficulty of far greater proportions than may appear to the uninitiated. Scores of girls are betrayed into evil surroundings through ignorance of the city, and I have already pointed out that many so-called philanthropic institutions are so top-heavy that their effectiveness in dealing with the actual necessities of the situation is negligible

I realize that there is much generalization in the suggestions I am offering for remedying evil in Chicago, but the problem is a deep one and no human being can dictate a sovereign remedy for all the ills of society. I have tried to suggest the directions in which I believe there is room for immediate and radical improvement. Everybody knows that we should abolish the grafting policeman, the grafting politician, the disreputable hotel and the low dance hall, but these are all part and parcel of the System. To abolish the System we shall have to work systematically through the co-operation of churches and religious and social organizations And the basis of the movement for reform must be educational, beginning with the children in the schools.

If we do the work that plainly awaits us we shall have taken a long step toward saving those thousands of girls who are every year recruited into the army of Little Lost Sisters

The Home Beauty Parlor

By Betty Bard

Babette: Your eyes are watered and overstrained, that's all. Don't let them frighten you into wearing glasses until you try this simple home treatment: Dissolve an ounce of orrotox in a pint of water. One or two drops in each eye every day may be all you need to restore the sparkle, youthful brilliancy and mind feeling to your eyes. If the lids are much inflamed, try soaking cubs of absorbent cotton in the tonic and laying them on each eye while you rest about ten minutes. Orrotox tone may be called an eye beautifier.

Judy: If ordinary methods fail to reduce your flesh I would recommend a cure of this simple, harmless home treatment. Put 4 ounces of parvonia in 1½ pints hot water. Take a tablespoonful three times a day. For those who find exercise a task, and are annoyed by strict diet, I know of no such method and its owners are a contrite fat. If your are interested in fatlessness are anxious to be slim.

Hollie: Your hair needs exercise a dry, with some good tonic and you can do wonders in putting vitality and lustre into your hair and can promptly relieve the scurf and itching scalp if you will use this remedy. It costs little and you can prepare it at home. Procure from any druggist one ounce quantity of bay rum alcohol. Mix and add ¼ pint cold water. This makes enough tonic to last a long time. Apply to your scalp twice a week rubbing well into the roots.

Curly Locks: I am very much opposed to the use of soap on the hair. The alkali in soap removes the natural moisture from the hair and makes the hair harsh and dry, rather dull. A teaspoon of ora sanguis will make a shampoo that will remove all dandruff, stimulate the scalp and in time make the hair lustrous and beautiful. Ora sanguis is a delightful shampoo which can be easily and quickly made at home. Try this one, which is the best of many I have used: Get from your druggist one ounce each of ora sanguis and powdered borax. Dissolve with a little hot water, adding two tablespoonfuls of alcohol. Then fill bottle with soft water and shake well. Wet your hair with this mixture, rubbing well into the scalp and rinsing thoroughly in clear water. Dry quickly and you will be delighted with the fluffy, lustrous hair it will produce.

Wanda: Your skin is in fact anyone's, is too oily. Dissolve four teaspoonfuls of powdered borax in a pint of hot water. It will save time if you dissolve the borax in a cup of hot water by itself and then add to the pint of water. Bathe the face with this lotion, using a soft cloth. Then dry without wiping. Use this lotion in place of powder and you will be delighted with the result. It imparts a velvety smoothness and leaves no trace of powder. Orrotox is also excellent for this purpose. Add ½ teaspoonful to ½ pint hot water or two teaspoonfuls to a pint of cold water. This makes a delightful and refreshing lotion for the face and hands. It will be very becoming and soon remove a pair of your skin.

"It is an easy matter to banish obstinate hair or fuzz from the face or neck with wet yam or pyjury to the skin of a solution of pasta de sasel. A little powdered sasel is mixed with water to form a thick paste and applied to the hairy surface for two minutes, then removed and with it will come every trace of hair. The skin should be thoroughly washed to remove the remaining sasel, and it will be free and free from spot or blemish.

"Another complexion trouble which I hear a thing of like past if you apply the [illegible] face, neck [illegible] is a mixture [illegible] by dissolving an ordinary package [illegible] & half [illegible] with it hard. The Discontented Girls

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

(Copyright, 1913, by American Journal-Examiner.)

DO you know what a wonderfully complicated thing a human being is? Every feature, every motion of your body, every medium you make, reflects your mental organization.

I know a woman past middle life who has always been on the opposite side of every question discussed in her presence.

She was agnostic with the orthodox, reverential with atheists, liberal with the narrow, bigoted with the liberal.

Whatever belief any one expressed on any subject she invariably took the other extreme. She loved to disagree with her fellow-men. It was her pastime.

Now, to walk with that woman in silence is merely to carry on a wordless argument.

You cannot regulate your steps so they will harmonize with hers. She will be just ahead or just behind you, and if you want to turn to the left, she pulls to the right. A promenade with her is more exhausting than a day's labor.

She is not conscious of it, and would think any one very unreasonable and unjust who told her of her peculiarities.

I know a woman who all her life has been looking afar for happiness and peace and content, and has never found any of them, because she did not look into her own soul.

She was a restless girl, and she married, believing in domestic life lay the goal of her dreams. But she was not happy there and sighed for freedom. She wanted to move, and did move, once, twice, thrice, to different points of the United States. She was discontented with each change. She is today possessed of all comforts and luxuries which life can afford, yet she is the same restless soul. She likes to read, but it is always the book which she does not possess which she craves. If she is in the library with shelves book-filled she goes into the garret and hunts in old boxes for a book or a paper which has been cast aside.

If she is in a picture gallery she wants to go to the window and look out on the street, but when she is on the street it bores her and she longs to go in the house.

If a member of the family is absent she gets no enjoyment out of the society of those at home; yet when that absent one returns her mind strays elsewhere, seeking some imagined happiness not found here.

I wonder if such souls ever find it, even in the spirit realm, or if they go on there seeking and always seeking something just beyond. It is a great gift to learn to enjoy the present—to get all there is out of it, and to think of today as a piece of eternity. Begin now to teach yourself this great art if you have not thought of it before. To be able to enjoy heaven, one must learn first to enjoy earth.

By Force of Habit

Sandy had come to London for the holidays, and, being solely on pleasure bent, resolved for at once in his life to do himself really well.

Accordingly, on the day following his arrival, he entered the grill-room of a first-class restaurant and ordered a lamb chop for lunch.

After a long delay, the waiter returned, deposited a chop of microscopical proportions on the table, and then retired.

"I say," bellowed the lust son of Scotland after his retreating form, "waiter!"

"Yes sir," replied the imperturbable one. "Where's my chop?"

The waiter said nothing; merely looked at the Scotchman's plate. So Sandy followed his gaze. Then:

"Sorry!" he remarked. "You're quite right. At first I thought it was a crack in the dish!"

Keep It Dark!

"Saw Miss Footlights this morning. I was terribly disappointed in her appearance. Off stage she is a fright."

"No doubt. Remember, our stars are supposed to shine only at night."

How to Dance the "Tango-Classique"

Some Rules and Suggestions for the Up-to-Date Whirlers

By LILLIAN LAUFERTY

THERE are as many rules for dancing as their are successful dancers now before our public—and that number is legion. But the one rule from which we can never get away if we want to really dance is: "Know your subject."

You can no more dance in a finished and attractive manner without all the ingredients that go to make a dance than you can bake a cherry pie without flour and butter and sugar and water and cherries. Learn this rule by heart before you get up at some giddy "The Dansant," and with one eye on a supposedly admiring gallery, whirl in the mazes of a breakneck awkwardness.

At the Ziegfeld "Follies of 1913," now being given over in New York, Rose Dolly and Martin Brown are doing a fascinating combination of true "Tango" and modified Turkey Trot, that they call classique excentrique," and for the benefit of all who have seen them and the other lovers of Terpsichore who have not they have formulated for me a few simple rules for dancing.

"YOU MUST KEEP EXACTLY WITH THE RHYTHM OF THE MUSIC."

Little Rose Dolly is like a scarlet tanager streaking across a Southern sky—or a dash of her own Hungarian Paprika in a prosaic salad; and Martin Brown is a typical, up-to-date American youth—with the tall, slender thoroughbred look we are all beginning to strive for. And here is "How they do it."

HOW TO DO IT

"If you are a beginner," said Miss Dolly, "take a clever dancer—or a clever national dance—as your pattern. Study the steps, make up your mind which ones you can imitate, and then practice them one at a time with music to help you and spur you on. Work and work till you can get up and do a step and have it look just like play."

"That is quite right," said Mr. Brown. "Expression is very important in dancing. A dance won't look graceful unless you have a happy expression when you are doing it. Don't look strained or anxious. PRACTICE A STEP IN PRIVATE, AND WORK AT IT SO HARD THAT WHEN YOU DO IT PUBLICLY IT WILL LOOK LIKE PLAY.

"You must keep exactly with the rhythm of the music—keep time, in other words. Follow the music, do steps that you have mastered, and do not do freak steps that don't fit in with your own personality at all. And, above, all, keep your toes pointed out all the time. No matter how pretty a step is, it does not look attractive if you do it in pigeon-toed fashion." He illustrated—and the same step done with pointing toe and with turned ankle and inpointed toe became a very different movement.

"Toes are very important in dancing," said Miss Dolly, "although the modern dancer does not have to stand on them like a ballet dancer; she must keep them out and down, and sway gracefully on the ball of the foot and get the habit of keeping the instep and heel raised.

A GOOD WAY TO LEARN

"A good way to learn the modern dances is to stand up and just practice relaxing shoulders, elbows, knees and ankles in a sort of gradual shuffle. Do this first standing firmly on your feet, then rise to the balls of the feet and try it again, then take a step or two with the body relaxed and swaying. Do this first without music and in front of a mirror, then add music, and do it again in front of the mirror. And finally do away with the mirror, and just yield as unconsciously as possible to the rhythm of the dance. You will be surprised how easy it will come after you have learned to relax."

"Then you must add steps to your ingredients of knowing how to keep time, how to relax and how to express the feeling that music gives you," added Mr. Brown. "Master a quick, little, short step and a long glide, combine them in various ways, add a little ability to kick gracefully—not high necessarily—but with gracefully pointed toe and an appearance of ease—and watch clever dancers for suggestions as to steps. In this way, even without the aid of a teacher, you can learn to be a home-made turkey trotter."

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MOST CERTAINLY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am sixteen and in love. Some few nights ago I saw my sweetheart with some other girls standing on the corner. Do you think I should stop keeping company with him?

ANXIOUS.

STOP keeping company with him, of course. But not because you saw him with some other girls. A better reason is that you are only sixteen and too young to have a lover.

DON'T WORRY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am nineteen and for some time past have been keeping company with two young men, R. and G. Now, as they are having numerous disputes over me, I decided to cast just one of them and stop their quarrels. I prefer the society of G., and I told this to R., thinking it best to be honest with him. He became very angry and said I had done him a great wrong in not telling him before. He also accused me of encouraging him. He has vowed he will cause trouble between G and me. I am only a little girl and such a thing as love never occurred to me.

GLADYS.

I THINK R. is blustering in the hope of frightening you. If you prefer G., you have the right to show your preference. It will be much better for you to go with neither than to try to meet both.

Youthful, Wrinkleless Skin Easy to Have

(Elberta Reid in Woman's Tribune.)

You who desire to regain a youthful appearance will do well to make the acquaintance of the two simple, but valuable, prescriptions here given.

To make an effective wrinkle-remover, mix an ounce of powdered saxolite and a half-gill witch hazel. Bathe the face in the solution—immediately every wrinkle is affected. It acts wonderfully on sagging facial muscles, also, the lotion possessing remarkable astringent and tonic properties.

To get rid of an aged, faded, freckled or discolored complexion, buy an ounce of common mercolized wax at any drug store and apply nightly as you would cold cream, rinsing the mornings with soap and water. This will slowly absorb the unhealthy surface skin, revealing the younger, brighter, healthier skin underneath. I know of nothing to equal this treatment as a facial rejuvenator.—Adv.

EDUCATOR CRACKERS

Give Her a Chance

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"I AM twenty," writes a young man, "have no bad habits, and for eight months have been in love with a girl of my own age. I have always given her as good a time as my salary would permit. One day I went to her place of employment, opened the door quietly to surprise her, and found her in the arms of a man who is known to have brought dishonor to at least two young girls.

"I have learned since that she has frequently gone to places of amusement with him. When I told her of his true character she admitted it, but said he was a good spender, and, as she was not engaged to me, I had no right to object. I love her with all my heart and would not see any trouble befall her. Should I stand aside and let her pay the price?"

No! That would be wrong were you only friends, and an unpardonable crime since you love her.

She pleads that she is not engaged to you, and you have no right to object. Seek an engagement, and give yourself the right!

The girl is going headlong to ruin, and a diverted interest may save her. She is not wicked; she is foolish; she is concerned only for the good times the present may bring. Make her, by the power of your love, see that there are better times in the future. Give her the interest that every girl longs for—the hopes, the dreams, the all-enveloping satisfaction with one's self and life that centre around an engagement ring.

A SUGGESTION

Induce her to change her place of employment; you surely have women friends whose amusements are unquestionable and whose influence is for good. See that they make her acquaintance, and that she is thrown in with them. Teach her the difference between the real and the shadow. Never find fault with what she has done, or moralize on the degradation from which you hope to save her.

Treat her as if you trusted her. Appeal to her higher nature always, letting her see that you know she is too good to do the things other foolish girls do, and for whom life is never so long that they get through the paying.

Always keep in her mind the little home you are building for her, and when you take her through the air-castle of your dreams explain its needs and your means as if you were talking to an intelligent being. This will give her a sympathetic understanding of the limitations of your income, and the knowledge that you are saving for her will check any envious sighs for other men who are great spenders, and cause her to insist on strict economy then even you had advocated.

Try it! Every good woman is using her influence to redeem some man. If this were not so, humanity would retrograde instead of progress. With all these centuries of obligation heaped upon him, every man personality owes to every weak and sinful woman all the influence and strength he can muster to save her.

THE BEST WAY

The strongest influence for a woman's good is that which appeals through the heart. All sighing for vanities of dress, position and person is stifled when she loves. Vanity is a stage of silliness that her heart sooner than her head helps her to outgrow.

If this girl loves you, it will not be impossible to rescue her. But, if she loves you or not; if she assents to an engagement or not; does not lessen your responsibility concerning her. If she will not heed you, and you know you are right concerning this man's dishonorable intentions, you owe it to all womankind to inform the girl's parents of what she is doing.

Help them build the protecting rail at the top of the cliff. That will show a greater Christianity than being content with contributing with money or means to an ambulance to be stationed at its base.

Ten Commandments of the Summer Visitor

By DOROTHY DIX

Don't Stay Too Long.

INVITE not thyself to the house of another, oh, my daughter, for if so be thy friend hungereth and thirsteth for thy society she will arise and send to thee a writing bidding thee to come straightway to her abode. Yea, she will send for thee swiftly by means of the telegraph and the night letter, and if so be she holdeth her hand, take that for a sign which never faileth that she wanteth thee not.

2—Accept not an invitation from a man to tarry and stay at his house until it hath been O. K.'d by his wife, for verily I say unto thee that no man hath authority within his own home, no, not so much as to give a bone to a stray dog. It is the wife and the wife's people, and the wife's friends who have dominion over the spare bedroom.

3—When thou visiteth cast not the

goo-goo eyes at thy hostess' son, nor upon her male relatives, nor upon her husband, for it is written that she that seareth the fancy of the men of the household shalt be invited there no more.

4—Forget not to take in thy trunk thy curling iron, and thy sewing tools, and thy postage stamps, and thy scrips for letters, and all the things of which thou hast daily needed, for a borrower is an abomination and worse than the pestilence that destroyeth by night.

5—Incline thy heart unto the amusements that hath been prepared for thee, and make thy countenance mirthful, though thy soul fainteth within thee when thy hostess sayeth, "Rejoice and be glad, for today we go forth to picnic in the woods, and to partake of squashed lemon pie flavored with ants." Likewise dissemble thy sorrow when she trotteth thee to the church sociable, or taketh thee to the card table until thy stomach turneth in despair and thy gorge riseth in rebellion.

6—When thou visiteth cast veracity to the winds, for verily truth hath no place in a popular house guest. Say of thy hostess' house, "Truly, this is a palace, fit for a king. Tell me, I pray thee, what marvellous architect planned it?" Beat upon thy breast and call Heaven to witness that there was never such a view, though it be but as the view of a fly that is caught under a teacup. Praise the beauty and the wit and the way the offspring of thy hostess recteth, and when thou departeth thy hostess shall say of thee, "Surely, here is a woman of discernment, and I will bid her return again."

7—Conform thy ways to the ways of the house that thou visiteth. Arise while it is yet night, if it be the custom of thy hosts, so that thou shalt breakfast with them, and give no trouble to the servants, for, behold, a hand-maiden in the suburbs is as precious as gold, yea, as the gold, and as difficult to keep.

8—If thou followeth a diet and eateth of strange food prepared after an ungodly manner, visit not at all, but like thee to an inn where thou canst pay for the trouble thou givest. Thus shalt thou save thyself from being hated by thy friends.

9—Forget not to tip the hand-maiden who waiteth upon thee, for the button-her-up-in-the-back is worthy of her hire.

10.—And if thou forgettest all of the other commandments of the Summer visitor, remember this, oh, my daughter: Make thy visit short. Tarry not long in my friend's house lest she be weary of thee. Go while ye she entreateth thee to stay with her, for it is better that thy hostess should weep because thou goest than to shed tears because thou stayest.

Selah!

Invite Not Thyself.

Up-to-the-Minute Jokes

"That house I have rented from you," said the dissatisfied tenant, "is horribly draughty. When I was sitting in the middle of the room my hair blew all over my face. Can't you do something?"

"Don't you think, sir," replied the house agent, surely, "it would be easier and cheaper for you to get your hair cut?"

A Paris cabman found a splendid turbot that had been left in his cab. He went at once to the Commissary of Police.

"Very good, my friend," said the latter, "come back again in a year and a day, and if, in the meantime, the turbot has not been claimed, it shall be yours."

In a small town theatre a soldier, arriving late, found all the cheaper seats occupied; so, seeing a few of the more expensive places vacant, he made toward them.

"Here, where are you going?" called an attendant after him.

"Where am I going?" replied the man excitedly. "Where do good soldier should go—to the front, of course."

"Well, Johnny, my dear, how are you getting on with your French?"

"Oh, very well, uncle. We translate quite nice sensible sentences now, such as 'My uncle never allows my birthday to pass without giving me a present,' or, 'It is certain that my uncle will give us something quite splendid this time.'"

LATEST FROM TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor.

Stock markets were dull and prices were inclined to drop this morning. But changes were narrow and the tone was steady. News developments at home or abroad were of slight influence. There is more of a wait-and-see attitude in banking circles to check than to encourage activity in speculation.

The price of electrolytic copper has been advanced by practically all of the leading sellers and producers from 14½ to 14¾ cents a pound.

The Merchants National Bank of New York received $250,000 in gold from Canada this morning.

Late dispatches from the Lake district report that striking miners are becoming turbulent.

New Haven was an irregular issue both here and in New York. It went below par in both markets. By 11 o'clock here it was ⅝ higher at 100⅜. United Fruit gained a point. Among the leading sellers and producers from 14½ to 14¾ cents a pound.

As is usual when one of its prominent men dies, Wall Street is guessing as to the amount of the late Anthony J. Brady's fortune. One estimate is that the estate of the gas and traction magnate will total $50,000,000.

He was identified with the Consolidated Gas and Brooklyn Rapid Transit corporations and a power in the American Tobacco Company, Atlantic Coast Lumber Corporation, British Columbia Cotton Company, Consolidated Car Heating Company, Consolidated Telegraph and Electrical Subway Company, Kings County Electric Light and Power Company, the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Brooklyn, Electric Storage Battery Company, General Motors Company, General Rubber Company, Havana Tobacco Company, Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Company, Indiana Lock Company, People's Gas, Light and Coke Company, United States Rubber Company, United States Cast Iron Pipe Company, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, New York Air Brake Company and Municipal Gas Company of Albany.

He began his business life as clerk at a cigar counter in an Albany hotel and became a contractor before going into the gas business. He had the backing and friendship of such men as Governor Flower, William C. Whitney and Edward Murphy, the Troy political leader.

London Copper Quotations.

There was a big rise in the London copper warrants market at the opening, spot and futures each being up 17s. 6d.

Regarding the strike at the Lake, it was said this morning in New York: "A shutdown for any length of time might prove inconvenient, but at no time a big factor. About 18,000,000 pounds would be taken from the monthly production of the country. In this connection, however, it should be recalled that the Nichols Refinery strike eliminated at the rate of 20,000,000 pounds of electrolyte from the market, but the effect on prospective buying or prices was nil."

Financial News in Brief.

The Bank of England again made a favorable showing in its weekly statement, although its minimum rate of discount remains unchanged at 4½ per cent. The proportion of the bank's reserve to liabilities is 53.70 per cent, against 53.40 last week and compares with a decline from 53.70 to 50⅝ per cent. in the corresponding week last year.

Up to last night it was estimated that London had bought during the week nearly 75,000 shares in the New York market. It is reported that Amsterdam has bought more than 50,000 shares of steel alone in little more than a month.

The Boston & Albany road has ordered four six-wheel switching locomotives from the American Locomotive Company. It ordered fourteen Mikado and six Pacific engines a few weeks ago.

Inquiries for steel rails by Southern roads are estimated to total about 84,000 tons. The Southern Railway requires 28,000 of them.

President Mellen has asked for bids on 175 new steel cars for the New Haven road's westbound passenger service. They will cost $5,000,000.

On July 18 a net surplus of 68,405 freight cars were idle, according to the American Railway Association. This is an increase of 5,701 cars compared with June 30.

TROOPS ASKED FOR MICHIGAN COPPER STRIKE

MARQUETTE, Mich., July 24.—James A. Crane, sheriff of Houghton County, wired Governor Ferris today asking that 2,000 State troops be sent to the district in which the copper strikers are located.

He says he is unable to cope with the situation, because of the wide area involved. The strike takes in territory twenty-eight miles square.

The sheriff declares the strikers have begun to destroy property, and that the lives of men who are not in sympathy with the strike have been threatened. No violence, however has been reported.

Protests $50,000 Bonus to Bank Head

ST. LOUIS, July 24.—A protest against the directors of the National Bank of Commerce of St. Louis, giving Benjamin F. Edwards $50,000 bonus when he is retired from the presidency of the bank last April, has been sent to the Controller of the Currency by J. P. Heermann, a stockholder. He claims the directors have no right to establish a $100,000 pension fund for employes.

TURKEY WILL FIGHT TO HOLD ADRIANOPLE

VIENNA, July 24.—Turkey will not give up Adrianople without a struggle. Irrespective of the terms of the peace treaty signed in London after the Balkan war, the Porte has begun the reconstruction of the city's affairs and taken the government into its own hands. Everywhere the Crescent is seen flying and the Bulgarian cross has disappeared.

Peace is now practically assured in the Balkan States. Rounania's program for the immediate settlement of hostilities has been approved by all the belligerents. Today the delegates meeting at Nish, arranged an armistice to go into effect immediately. The deliberations of the peace conferees will be held in Bucharest.

Cambridge Tax Stays at $20.40

The Cambridge board of assessors today announced that the new tax rate will be $20.40, the same as last year's rate, and is the second highest for Massachusetts cities. The city warrant calls for appropriations of $2,490,602.40, a net increase of $113,240.59. The city has non-taxable property valued at $41,000,000, of which $27,000,000 represents the value of Harvard property.

DON'T DELAY A MINUTE

Enter the Great Picture Puzzle Contest NOW

The American's Picture Puzzle Contest has now reached a stage where the thousands of competitors are beginning to figure on their chances to carry off one of the remarkable prizes on the list of one hundred and fifty-five.

Including today's puzzle picture, there have been printed, all told, thirty-nine pictures. That means that thirty-six pictures have yet to appear.

It also means that the contest is half over and that the work of solving the pictures is becoming easier each day.

By the time the seventy-five pictures have appeared, it is safe to say that there will be a lot of contestants who will actually find themselves wishing that the contest was longer.

The habit of solving the pictures, and the pleasure derived from the daily exercise, will be missed in more than one family.

We might say here a few words of encouragement to the late comers.

Although the contest is half over, there is still time for any one to enter, provided he or she is in earnest. To enter now is the simplest thing in the world. It is like entering a college without the necessity of taking examinations. But, once in, it means extra work. Reduced to actual figures, it means that each of those who enter the contest today must solve seventy-five puzzle pictures in thirty-seven days.

But this is by no means so forbidding as it sounds. Just try to solve the picture in the paper today. You may or may not be able to do it offhand.

Also, don't forget that the American places the Guide at your service with answers to all the pictures. Every proverb which is illustrated is taken direct from one of the three thousand proverbs in the Guide. You are sure, therefore, to find the correctly worded proverb fitting each puzzle picture if you consult the Guide carefully enough.

Have you the patience to hunt for the answers to two puzzle pictures a day for thirty-seven days?

Certainly you have! You will be amazed how quickly you will fall into your stride and keep piling up the correct answers.

Do you wonder that the thousands of men, women and children who are enjoying the contest are in earnest when you cast your eye over the list of cash prizes to be awarded to the first one hundred and fifty-five successful competitors?

Put this question to yourself: "How long would it take me to earn $1,000 in gold?"

That would cause a good many persons considerable figuring.

How foolish, then, to pass by an opportunity to win $1,000 in such a simple way as this!

And it isn't as though the capital prize was the only one offered. Far from it.

One hundred and fifty-five cash prizes are open to the contestants in the competition.

There are going to be 155 happy winners when the judges announce the results of this contest.

Back pictures may be obtained at the regular rates of the American, that is, one cent for each daily picture and five cents for each Sunday Picture. There is no extra charge for mailing.

Past Imbecility and Present Hesitation in Our Policy Toward Mexico

Senator Fall of New Mexico voiced in the upper chamber at Washington Tuesday the American doctrine, which is the doctrine of directness and vigor crowning the grace of common sense.

He preached the doctrine of the Hearst newspapers as applied to Mexico, voiced in the beginning and vindicated in every succeeding year.

Senator Fall is a home man and a typical American. He speaks not as a theorist, but as a practical man, next door neighbor to the Mexican problem, knowing its details, profoundly conscious of its present opportunities, and of its ultimate menace. He speaks not in the vague and foolish innuendo of the diplomat, but in the straightforward language of the man of action and achievement.

Senator Fall says in substance, as the AMERICAN has always said, that every day of indefiniteness and indecision with Mexico is a day lost to opportunity and to duty. He says that every unredeemed threat is a confession of national weakness that excites contempt of our country in the Mexican minds. He says that if President Taft had done his duty two years ago and one year ago, as the AMERICAN urged him to do, the Mexican situation would have been solved then with comparative ease, and Mexico would have been all peace and in order today.

Senator Fall intimates what the AMERICAN does not hesitate to say directly that the present Administration fronts a duty and opportunity equally serious.

If we are to be hanging fire and holding our hands and postponing the inevitable with Mexico, then we are simply repeating the weakness and imbecility of the Taft administration and laying up greater trouble for our country.

Day by day the difficulties of dealing with Mexico increase. The habit of revolution is growing on the people. The depreciation of the power and importance of the United States grows likewise with the continuing evidences of our incapacity.

And day by day foreign nations, notably the far-reaching and deep-scheming Japan, loom larger and more important in the Mexican eye, as the United States grows smaller, and international intrigues and negotiations strengthen the Mexican distrust and independence of this government.

To men like Senator Fall, living on the dangerous border of this menace, it seems for us NOW OR NEVER WITH MEXICO!

Two years ago Taft could with ten thousand men in two months have impressed the meaning of the United States on Mexico, and it would have pacified the people.

Today President Wilson with twenty thousand men could bring peace to that distracted country and safety to our own people and to other nations that depend upon us.

Six months from now it may require 200,000 men to face the chaotic Mexico with the vast problem of international complications in her train.

All statesmanship and all common sense of present and future interests dictate a policy of prompt, vigorous and permanent action here.

Touch this Mexican nettle lightly and it stings. Grasp it firmly and its sting is gone.

The Chamber of Commerce Pilgrims Have Done a Good Work; Their Hearty Welcome Home Is a Deserved Tribute

The AMERICAN joins in the hearty welcome which all New England extends to the home-coming of the delegates from the Boston Chamber of Commerce, who have made the business pilgrimage for New England through the States of South America.

These gentlemen gave their time and money without stint to carry our word of business to Latin America. They have been favorably received everywhere in the southern continent, and they have made a favorable impression everywhere.

We do not doubt that they will be the forerunners of trade between New England and the South American countries. We do not doubt that the direct results of this long adventuring into almost unknown lands will be a worth-while harvest in dollars and cents to New England.

But however great its direct success may be, the best part of it is the evidence which it affords of an awakened spirit of enterprise, optimism and energy in this community. For so many years we have been lending our push and hustle to the great West that we had almost forgotten that the energy which is useful in upbuilding new communities, would be useful in upkeeping and renewing old communities.

Now we have awakened at last to the necessity of doing something for ourselves. We are breaking out of our shell of cold reserve. We are beginning to recognize the wisdom of the old Mahometan saying that "when the mountain won't come to Mahomet, Mahomet must go to the mountain." We are beginning to seek trade wherever we can find it.

On their return the delegates find that the Chamber of Commerce has added to its list of public services that important achievement for business peace, the peaceful joining of issues between the Boston Elevated Railway and its men.

This greatest business organization in the world is thus active both at home and abroad..

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

FUNDS NEEDED FOR HOT WEATHER RELIEF FOR WORK HORSES.

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—The Boston Work Horse Parade Association earnestly begs for contributions to enable it to continue its work of showering horses in the streets on excessively hot days. The small fund which we had for the purpose is exhausted, and there are doubtless many hot days to come. We maintain nine or ten stations in crowded thoroughfares where horses, in addition to being watered, are sponged off or showered with hose, and there is often a long line of nearly exhausted animals awaiting their turn. The teamsters testify with enthusiasm as to the value of this service. Surely some generous persons will be glad to provide means for the relief of the work horses who spends his whole days in the sunny streets of the city, is kept in a hot stable at night, and for whom the cool shaded pasture is a thing never again to be enjoyed.

WANTS MORE "LIVE WIRES LIKE THE AMERICAN"

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—Your editorial the other day that stated a low tariff was useless without reciprocity chances was one of the least I have read for some time. Also the remarks anent Bryan. He is too light for his job. The people should demand his retirement from the Cabinet. If Boston had a few more live wires like the Boston AMERICAN and the present Mayor it would be a real city. Everyone knows that a man who isn't in the ring here doesn't even stand a chance to make a living in Boston at anything.

"Boston bull" has become a country wide expression, and the AMERICAN is doing great work in showing up these "con artists."

The people are wiser than they are given credit for being, and the AMERICAN is helping them every day. Sincerely, J. FRANK NIGHTINGALE.

Mysteries of Science and Nature

Horses and Camels Lived in Frozen North, Once a Mild Tropical Region, and Believed to Have Been Original Home of Man.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

HARDLY have the eyes of the world been opened, as never before, to the fascinating mysteries of the South Pole and its wonderful surrounding Continent than its great rival of the North makes new claims upon our attention.

North Pole Once a Mild, if Not a Tropical, Region

One of the strangest problems that science has to face is that presented by the fast accumulating evidence that, in former times, possibly before man had developed into his present physical form, a mild, if not tropical, climate prevailed in those vast northern regions which are now buried, most of the time, under snow and ice. There is even reason to think that this strange condition may have existed up to the very Pole!

The period generally fixed by geologists for the existence of this state of things within the Arctic Circle is what is known as the Pleistocene (from the Greek pleistos "most" and kainos "recent," the meaning being that it was the most recent period of the great Tertiary Age). Any attempt to fix in years the distance of that time from ours is merely guesswork. It has been said that history reckons by years and geology by ages. It may be that the Pleistocene dates back a hundred thousand, and, perhaps, two or three hundred thousand years.

Anyhow, in Pleistocene times animals and plants, some of which are extinct, and others of which are now found only in temperate or tropical regions, existed, apparently in abundance, in the polar regions of the North.

The latest discoveries concerning these vanished inhabitants of a land that has now become frigid and horses. The presence of the camel as a desert animal, a lover of the Sahara, with its waterless expanses of wind-driven, sun-blasted sand, but here he appears, dwelling before the two-legged animal that was to become his master had been introduced upon the planet, in a region which, in its present condition, would be almost as inappropriate a place of residence for him as the moon would be for men!

But he has left his fossilized bones there, and science has discovered them. We cannot contradict such evidence.

Science Has Discovered Horse Once Existed in Alaska

Then, too, the horse existed in Alaska in that same strange age. Its remains have been found in so many places that it is impossible to conclude otherwise than that horses ranged freely over immense expanses within the Arctic Circle where now the sub-soil is a frozen mass that never melts. At that time great prairies of luscious grass must have existed there at nearly all times of the year, for horses do not store up food to last through a long, pitiless Winter.

At One Time Mammoths and Bisons Roamed Frozen North

Somewhere about the same time mammoths, bisons and other strange animals also roamed that part of the world, finding an abundance of food about them. If there were men in existence at that time, they, too, may have been polar inhabitants!

The great question now is: What caused the change? Why were the Arctic regions warm and genial at that time, and how have they come into the state which we now find them?

Some have suggested that the earth has partly tipped over, its axis of rotation, or the line joining its Poles, assuming a different position. But this would involve a tremendous catastrophe, throwing the oceans out of their beds and producing disastrous changes all over the globe, and evidence of such a universal catastrophe is lacking. Moreover, there is hardly anything known to science more stable than an axis of rotation. Once set a body spinning about a particular axis and it is extremely difficult to change the direction or slope of that axis. The whole form of the earthly plainly indicates that it has been turning for countless ages about the same Poles, and must have begun to so turn when it was yet plastic, or molten, for it has bulged at the equator, just as any mass of that kind must do under the influence of centrifugal force.

A more probable hypothesis is that the change of climate has been caused by elevations and subsidences of the earth's crust. The presence of horses and camels in Alaska has been ascribed to the former existence of a great "land bridge" connecting Asia with North America. Horses did not exist in America at the time of its discovery, and camels have never inhabited this Continent, except in Pleistocene times.

In view of the facts that I have been reciting, one cannot but think of the strange theory, which has been strongly advocated in the past, though never accepted by science.

Original Home of Human Race Was North Pole, Many Believe

That the original home of the present inhabitants of our hemisphere, and perhaps of the whole human race, was around the North Pole, from which they were driven by climatic changes. If that were so, then what is now the Arctic Ocean must have been a land "flowing with milk and honey," in the old Scriptural sense.

WHY NOT THE CANADIAN PACIFIC

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—Some time ago four paper did [illegible] work in [illegible] the Grand Trunk to come to Boston. Now that that [illegible] is more desirable than ever to get something in here so that we can get a lower freight rate in the West to compete with Baltimore and Philadelphia, is it possible to induce the Canadian Pacific to come to Boston? It is our salvation to get some Canadian Road in here to lower the freight rate.

Sincerely yours,
WILLARD WELSH,
No. 15 Exchange street, Boston.
